Britain United On Czech-Hitler Warning Policy

Prime Minister Chamberlain's Government Approaches Hitler With Conciliatory Attitude—Anything to Avoid War

British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's cabinet is facing the gravest decisions of its existence. Outwardly, it is uniting on a policy designed to warn Hitler that use of force against the Czechs would be fatal. Behind the scenes, momentous factors are operating to guide the government's decisions. In the following dispatch, Webb Miller, United Press European correspondent, explains some of these un-publicized factors.—EDITOR.

By WEBB MILLER
British United Press, Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Great Britain's cabinet is laboring to exact full profits from the lessons which—history says—caused past wars. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his ministers fully realize that they are faced with decisions that might tip the scales toward peace or war in Europe.

Two factors operating powerfully behind the scenes of feverish diplomacy have dominated their minds:

1—Historians generally agree that if Great Britain had made clear her position in 1914—that she would fight against the Kaiser's armies—the World War might have been avoided.

2—The key men of the cabinet admittedly would prefer to see Germany get the Sudeten region in Czechoslovakia, if it could be arranged without war; but circumstances have forced the cabinet to take a definite lineup against Nazi Fuehrer Adolf Hitler in the belief that for the moment at least such a course is the best way to prevent war.

LEADERS CONVINCED

The cabinet leaders have been convinced, regardless of other factors, that Hitler is making an ambiguous position now Great Britain can do more to forestall German aggression against the Czechs than any act. They recalled that Hitler in his book "Mein Kampf" vigorously criticized the German leaders of 1914 for getting into war without assurance that

3 POOLS LOSE $100 PER DAY IN TWO WEEKS

Petition Protests Closing Of Swimming Places Wednesday

City swimming pools have been losing more than $100 daily on operation expense for the last two weeks, it was stated by officials of the city engineer's department tonight as a petition protesting against closing for the season on Wednesday.

West End and South Side pools on Wednesday, the last day the pools were open, took in $54 between them, while the East Side pool did not take in a single paid admission, although there were several swimmers on season tickets and relief passes. Daily cost of operating the pools is $48 each.

The swimming pool season was shortened three years ago to cut the annual loss, but the city does not expect to operate at a profit, it was stated.

For the past three years the season has been from the middle of May to the end of August. Previous to that this season was from Arbor day to Labor day.

It is not planned to reopen the pools following the petition.

BUILDING FOR EIGHT MONTHS SHOWS ADVANCE

Permits for building in Edmonton up to the end of August this year were more than three times the amount for the same period last year, according to figures released Thursday by the city building department.

Permits were issued for 835 constructions projects with a total valuation of $1,779,795, compared with 659 projects at a valuation of $548,745 for the same period in 1937.

Permits issued during August numbered 123, exactly the same number as in August last year, but with a valuation of $161,375 as against $69,250 in August, 1937.

Land sales for the period ended August 31 were $123,082 as compared with $68,749 for the same period in 1937.

Sales for the month were $11,222 as against $6,668 for August last year.

DROUTH AREAS WILL PRODUCE CROSS STATES

Expects Two-Thirds of the Dry Districts Will Have Crops

Two-thirds of last years drouth area will be productive this year according to estimates received by the provincial government relief branch, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief, stated Thursday.

Dr. Cross said that of the two-thirds productive area there would be an average yield of five bushels an acre.

The drouth area this year is east and south of Oyen, he said.

Municipalities throughout the province have co-operated and are co-operating with the province in estimating grain yields and a survey has been made of acreages and varying yields in the different districts.

The Dominion government officials are in the city and were scheduled to confer on Thursday afternoon with Dr. Cross.

A four-square survey of the drouth situation is now in progress in Saskatchewan, after which the Dominion government will announce

Senior Governments Plan To Contribute 60 Per Cent. Share

Change in the rate of sharing the relief burden between the Dominion and provincial governments and the municipalities, proposed by the premier at a recent conference with mayors of five Alberta cities, is outlined in a letter received Tuesday by Mayor John W. The letter will be placed on the agenda of special council meeting to be held at 4:30 p.m. Thursday and may be discussed at that meeting.

Alberta Binders Busy: Bumper Crop In Sight

Harvesting is General in Province—Farmers Looking Forward to Big Returns From Fields This Year

With cutting practically one hundred per cent completed, and with warm weather reported from every section of the province, threshing is now general in Alberta and indications are that a bumper yield will be harvested this season.

North, south, east and west, from the American boundary line through to the Rockies and to Saskatchewan on the east, threshing crews are at work, and early reports show that farmers this year face an outlook considerably brighter than for years past. Grain is grading well according to early shipments, and elevators at country points are already handling this year's crop.

What little wheat cutting remains to be done will be completed this week, and in many sections of the province oat crops and other feed crops are now being cut. Oats are reported to be heavy this year also.

Detailed reports from various districts are as follows:

Barons: Almost 90 per cent of the wheat and barley has been cut here and 10 per cent of the oats. A bumper crop is expected, and the wheat should yield 25 or 30 bushels per acre, barley, 30 to 35, and oats 40 to 50. The heavy rains that were also delayed the harvesting somewhat, but they have made excellent headway in the past few days. There is an abundance of straw and a lot of wheat has been lodging, causing trouble in cutting.

Killam: First wheat of the 1938 crop to be marketed here was delivered to the Pioneer Elevator Company, by E. K. Brown, west of town. The grade was good and weighed 62 pounds to the bushel and the yield, farm is going to be ... ing about 30 bushels to the acre.

Rocky Mountain House: In the past three weeks there has been ... 25 per cent of the grain here has been cut. If the present warm

Progress was made in leads this way, however, and hopes were that the ship would make its way through the ice and reach the open waters along Melville Peninsula, opening up a clear-water route to Igloolik under favorable conditions of a light ice movement.

Dominion Bombing Plane Assembly Plant To Be Built Near Toronto

T.C.A. HANGARS TO BE BUILT AT NEW AIR FIELD

Hon. C. D. Howe Closes Deal With Mayor Day For Plant

TORONTO, Sept. 1. — Mayor Ralph C. Day announced last night construction will start within six weeks of a $600,000 assembly plant for bombing airplanes for the British and Canadian governments at Malton, 14 miles northwest of Toronto.

The assembly plant will receive airplane products from 10 aircraft companies operating in different parts of Canada.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, Mayor Day and E. L. Cousins, general manager of the Toronto harbor commission, met Wednesday night and reached an agreement for operation of Malton airport. The Dominion will assume all costs of operating the airfield during a two-year period ending Dec. 31, 1940, paying the city an annual $1 rental fee for 761 acres. Trans-Canada Airlines will hangar planes immediately at Malton airport.

Toronto will retain control of the remaining 789 acres there. "As to the use to be made of it," Mayor Day said, "the transport minister is in conference with the United States department of commerce officials as to the inter-change of flying rights between Canada and the United States and until this is clarified, details of Malton airport operations will be left in abeyance.

WORK FOR 2,000 MEN

"I am reliably informed an assembly plant for a group of 10 Canadian firms will be built at Malton within six weeks, giving employment to 2,000 skilled and unskilled laborers," said Mayor Day.

Mayor Day said he understood the $500,000 National Steel Car airplane plant at Malton would be doubled in capacity. There are 75 men employed there now. When present construction work is completed 450 men will be engaged and with doubling of its capacity the number would be raised to 900 men.

Finished planes from the assembly plant will be tested at Malton with a fee accruing to the city, Mayor Day said. Because of other plants for sale in the vicinity of Malton, the revenue from still more test flights would go to the city," Mayor Day declared.

Relief

this grant to include the Dominion's contribution. The province's payment of 60 per cent would vary if the latter's governments grant was changed.

At present Edmonton receives a straight grant of approximately $53,000 a month. The new offer is proposed to be effective until December 31.

As partial compensation for the loss which would be incurred by cities on the new basis, the province offers to pay 40 per cent of the cost of supporting indigents or unemployables, exclusive of administration.

"This new offer of the government will mean a loss to Edmonton," Mayor Fry commented, "but it will affect Calgary and all the other cities, as we feel we have been discriminated against in the past.

"The offer of a percentage payment is based on the expenditure for food, clothing and shelter and does not cover administration, hospitalization or medical care. The payment for indigents would be about $4,000 a month.

Mr. Mackenzie states that, when the Dominion discontinues its payments to relief in certain districts of the province, the province will have to provide between $45,000 and $60,000 for the purpose. The need for assistance there is not endless.

As there is no agreement between the province and the Dominion regarding single, homeless men, Mr. Mackenzie states that the province is burdened with the full cost of providing for these.

Harvesting

weather lasts, farmers who were hailed out a month ago, have hopes of cutting some grain at least. Threshing will not start for a week or ten days. A good deal of hay and clover that was cut during the prolonged wet spell, has spoiled.

Wetaskiwin: Harry Grant of this district has hauled in two loads of No. 2 C.W. Garnet into the National Elevator. Most of the cutting is completed and threshing will be well underway the end of this week.

Rosalind: Threshing started in this part of the country on August 29, last Monday. 85 per cent of the wheat is cut, and this week will see much of the oats finished.

Lavoy: A. W. MacFarland, farmer, three miles west of Lavoy, on Saturday threshed and hauled the first load of 1938 wheat to the elevators. He threshed 420 bushels from approximately 15 acres. George Dean, five miles west, threshed 1,100 bushels of oats in 7 hours Saturday, and he has the distinction of being the first to thresh that grain here. Jim Burnett, grain buyer, stated that grain was generally grading well.

Fort St. John: The threshing outfits are ready to commence work next week on most of the farms in the Peace River bloc. There has been no frost to do any damage up to date and crops are expected to yield in most cases as well as last year.

Threshing Is General Over Peace Country

Cutting is almost finished and threshing is general in some parts of the Peace River territory according to the crop report of the Northern Alberta Railways for the week previous to Aug. 31, released on Thursday by J. M. MacArthur, general manager.

Threshing is general in the Dawson Creek area and has been 50 per cent completed. Weather is clear.

Pouce Coupe weather has been fine and warm with cutting 90 per cent completed and threshing just started.

Hythe weather has been fine and warm and cutting is about 80 per cent completed. Combining has started and will be general next week.

Beaverlodge cutting is 90 per cent finished and will be general in a day or so.

Wembley weather is warm and dry. Cutting is 70 per cent completed.

Other sections of the area have similar conditions and all districts are all indicating the harvest is well advanced.

Drouth

take a registration in this province.

The province, in the light of information gained during the crop survey, will be able to give the Dominion government a first-hand picture of the whole drouth situation.

SHOULD BE RESTORED

After the provinces have been checked over by the Dominion, the question of whether drouth area relief will be restored will be decided and Dr. Cross submitted that if it was restored in Saskatchewan, it should be restored here.

Drouth area relief, which in June and July had amounted to $80,000 a month was cut off by the Dominion at the end of July, thus leaving the entire burden on the province, with an estimated cost of $48,000 for August. In the light of the survey now being made, the province is hopeful that some assistance will be continued.

During August, births in this city totalled 208, according to figures issued on Thursday by Donald Mackie, registrar of vital statistics. Marriages during the month totalled 146, and deaths 86. In August of 1937 births totalled 201, marriages 154, and deaths 86.

It is expected that all airline aircraft soon will be required to carry radio compasses and direction finders on all their planes.

Moscow Charges British Premier Of Dilly-Dallying

Soviet's Official Organ Says Concerted Practical Measures and Not Diplomatic Talks Needed to Prevent German Aggression

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—The Journal De Moscou, which usually reflects the Soviet government's foreign policy views, Wednesday asserted "concerted practical measures" by the great powers were necessary to prevent German aggression in Czechoslovakia, "not mere diplomatic conversations."

The publication's editorial was interpreted in some quarters to mean Soviet Russia, linked with Czechoslovakia and France by mutual assistance pacts, would wash her hands of any responsibility in the present crisis unless France and Great Britain agree on some collective action.

"Hitler considers the operation of the Soviet-Czech mutual assistance pact as conditioned on prior French aid to Czechoslovakia — the victim of aggression," the Journal said.

SCORES PREMIER

"For this reason he expects that if France remains passive, the union of Soviet socialist republics, which has been systematically, possibly might abstain from intervening in the conflict.

"Whether these considerations which lie at the basis of Hitler's calculations are true or not, it is evidently useless to expect from Prime Minister Chamberlain any declaration — and even less, any action—which could be capable of frustrating these calculations.

The policy of laissez faire and even encouragement to aggression, which has been systematically adopted by the bourgeois democracies, has only excited the appetites of aggressors and confirmed them in the certainty their acts will go unpunished."

LITTLE NATIONS HOLD KEY

The Journal recalled that Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff in a speech in Sept. last flagged the central European situation as "not dangerous in particular for the U.S.S.R. but primarily for the little countries and secondly for the states responsible for post-war international order—that is England and France.

"These countries will be responsible for the future course of events and for any failure to take in time the necessary measures to prevent catastrophe."

Risky Decisions

Britain with her vast power of naval blockade would remain neutral.

In view of the emphasis he has placed on that point, it may be taken for granted that the Fuehrer would not intentionally repeat the mistake of 24 years later. As a result, the British government has lost no opportunity to hammer home to Hitler that this country would have little chance of avoiding being drawn into any war in Europe.

They have, too, had another consideration in mind. Britain does not want to anger the Nazis into some precipitate action to force a showdown.

FRIENDLY TERMS

Therefore, whatever further approach is made to him will be in the most friendly terms and appeal to co-operate rather than a threat of war.

At the same time, the British have been worried by the unyielding position taken by the Sudeten Germans, presumably on orders from Berlin. They must have at least a show of compromise on the part of the Nazis if the Czechs are to be persuaded to yield still further. As a result, the last week or so has forced Britain to abandon her fence-sitting position and take a more aggressive attitude.

One important development aiding the British cause has been reported in diplomatic sources. It was that information had been conveyed to Konrad Henlein, the Nazi leader in Czechoslovakia, that Italy would refuse to fight merely for the sake of the Sudeten claims. Coupled with the firm stand of the so-called democratic powers, the information was said to have had a sobering effect.

United States. These questions include the development of the international section of the St. Lawrence for navigation and power; the preservation of the scenic beauties of Niagara, together with substantially increased production by the utilization of its power resources; the recognition that water diverted into the Great Lakes basin from other basins watershed, as for example at Ogoki and Long Lake, shall be available for power by riparians on the boundary waters below the point of diversion; the general question of power interchange, and the question of the permanent settlement of the Chicago sanitary canal diversion and the restoration and regulation of lake levels.

These questions have been dealt with separately or in various combinations in negotiations between the two countries over a long period of years. The new draft proposes examining the said settlement of all the outstanding questions in one negotiation, with the provision for carrying the several parts and stages into execution as opportunity and the needs of each country permit.

NAVIGATION FIRST

The government of Canada is primarily interested in the questions of the improvement of navigation, the safeguarding of lake levels, the settlement of the Chicago diversion and other general phases of Great Lakes development.

In examining the navigation question, due weight will be given to the consideration that the greater part of the Canadian share of the improvement has already been done, and that in the division of the total costs between the United States and Canada, credit would be given for the $125,000,000 which the Dominion government has expended in providing the new Welland ship canal. For any conclusion of these matters the Canadian government will be responsible to parliament, and will be prepared to set forth and support its conclusions in due course.

Any arrangement eventually proposed would in any event have to be submitted to parliament before the Canadian representatives leave of the constituencies in all the provinces, including Ontario, would have every opportunity to give their views and votes.

MUST INVESTIGATE

No final conclusion can of course be reached as to the feasibility of the whole project as set forth in the draft treaty until the possibilities of a solution of the power questions involved have been explored. It has frequently been pointed out to the government at Ottawa by various Ontario administrations that expeditious development and development of their most important and valuable power sites on their boundary waters depends on the practical necessity of reaching international agreement—the cases in question being the Niagara, the power available within the Canadian boundaries of the international section of the St. Lawrence, the expansion of existing Niagara developments, and the further expansion of production at both sites by means of new water to be brought into the Great Lakes system from the Hudson Bay watershed.

AIM TO CLEAR FIELD

In view of the requests received here from Ontario governments, to which I have alluded, including those from your own administration, and upon which a long course of negotiations with the United States has been founded, we have been and are prepared to make every practicable effort to clear the field of the international difficulties which, as the published correspondence indicates, completely obstruct progress in freeing for use such a large proportion of Ontario's future sources of power supply.

I may perhaps point out very generally that the proposal recently made to us does not involve the development of a block of power on the Canadian side of the international St. Lawrence reach in the near future. Taking account of the time required for construction of the works, the successive blocks of power could not be made available until the expiration of at least 7 years for construction after the time a treaty had been not only signed but ratified on both sides, and in addition there would be the possibility of some further postponement of the actual utilization of power dependent on the financial arrangements to be made.

It is practically impossible, without full technical examination and discussions, to estimate accurately and completely the practical effect of the various parts of the project and the implications. Naturally such a technical examination cannot be complete and dependable unless it takes account of the practical and financial implications involved in the power aspects of the project. It is realized that these include matters which are within the knowledge and responsibility of the provincial authorities. For these reasons I have on previous occasions suggested that technical discussions be held here with the Ontario hydro electric commission or such representatives as you may designate.

PROCEDURE FIRST QUESTION

It seems plain, therefore, that at the present stage the first question which arises is one of procedure. From the beginning of the long period of international negotiations I have mentioned there has been on the part of successive Dominion and provincial governments a remarkable degree of unanimity as to the procedure, and on every point involving the provincial interest there has always been the fullest and free joint technical examination between federal and provincial officials.

Obviously this was essential if the international negotiations were to be effectively handled, and as a natural result the treaty of the year was international negotiations and consequently the shape of their present position have been largely determined and fixed by the representations contributed on behalf of Ontario to their joint federal-provincial explorations.

We continue to need this kind of detailed technical examination in order that Canada may have the best information in continuing to carry out her duty under the established practice of careful joint consultation with the other country upon matters of joint concern.

CLEAR OBSTACLES

Our general policy therefore is to continue trying to clear away the obstacles to the use of Niagara, and to develop its own resources at its own discretion, however long and complicated the task may be.

At the present moment the matter confronting all concerned being simply one of procedure involving no decision of any aspect of substantive policy, our immediate proposal, in view of our technical examinations, is to renew the invitation that joint technical examination and discussions now take place between federal and provincial officials.

I should be glad to designate technical representatives for these discussions at any time. I may add that, in accordance with the usual rule and with the practice in the past, such technical discussions would necessarily be completely without prejudice and only for the guidance of the two governments respectively.

We hope this will be acceptable and that you will be in a convenient position to designate representatives for this purpose at an early date.

City Store To Build Addition On 101 Street

Metropolitan Stores, Limited, will construct a new store directly north of their present building on 101 street, at 85 feet frontage, the full depth of the present store and one storey high for the present.

Tenders already have been called for the construction and will be opened this week at the company's head office in London, Ontario.

The company is now building a new store at Red Deer, also by 72 feet, which will be opened October 1.

First load of wheat of the season in this part of Alberta was delivered to the National elevator at Millet on Wednesday afternoon. The wheat was grown by R. Gempke, was of the Red Bobs variety, weighed 62 pounds to the bushel, and will yield better than 30 bushels to the acre.

FLOODS CAUSE 13 DEATHS IN EAST QUEBEC

Torrential Rains Cause Railway Washout and Collapse of Apartment

QUEBEC, Sept. 1.—Thirteen persons at least were known to have died today when torrential rains pounded eastern sections of the province, raising to flood levels a number of rivers, causing one railway washout and letting loose a rock slide on top of a tenement apartment house. About 15 other persons were unaccounted for and were listed as missing.

Worst tragedy occurred at St. Gregoire De Montmorency, six miles east of here when a huge section of a precipice tumbled on an eight-suite apartment house, killing five, injuring 18 and leaving 15 others to an undetermined fate. Six members of another family were swept to death when the raging Montreal river carried away their frame home near the Quebec-Montreal highway, 40 miles west of here.

HOMES ABANDONED

Last night's torrential rains caused the river to overflow its banks and forced many families to abandon their homes. Farmers rowed about in boats, taking women and children to safety.

Drowned when their house was swept away by the torrent were Mrs. George Marcot, Rose Marcot, 20; Bridget Marcot, 14; a boy named Fernand Marcot, a two-month-old baby and another child whose name was not learned immediately.

EIGHT OTHERS RESCUED

Mr. Marcot and eight other Marcot children were rescued from the wrecked house as it was carried away by a current so strong, stout trees bent like willow wands under its pressure.

The flood washed out part of the Canadian Pacific railway line between Montreal and Quebec, causing the night express from Montreal at a point just east of here, killing Engineer O. Cormier and Fireman Ed. Robidoux. Conductor O. Jobin was slightly injured.

The engine, tender, two baggage cars and another coach were left on the rails. Several passengers were slightly injured.

Hours after the before-dawn apartment tragedy, the cries of imprisoned victims could be heard from beneath tons of wood, metal and earth to entombing them. Rescuers struggled frantically to extricate those trapped, hacking at the debris with pickaxes and other instruments.

The known dead: Mrs. Patrick Delisle, 32; Mrs. Corinthin Audet; Miss Rose Alma Lachance, 18; unidentified babies, one believed that of Mrs. Delisle.

The eighteen injured were taken to Jeufant Jesus hospital here. They included Leo Lavigne, 46; Mrs. Lavigne, 34; Mrs. G. Delisle, 25; Miss Ida Delisle; Mrs. G. Alchimbe, 9; Mrs. Delphis Lachance, 47.

CRITICAL INJURIES

Extent of their injuries was not made known immediately by the hospital, but some were believed in critical condition.

Almost every person in the house had been asleep when death struck swiftly at 4:15 a.m. Only the Lachance family appeared to have had some premonition of danger, and they were fleeing out of the doomed building when the earth came crashing down on it, loosed by heavy rain.

BOLT OF LIGHTNING

One report said that a bolt of lightning at the height of a torrential rainstorm had carved out a jagged slice of cliffside and tumbled it down on the house but officials held the rain alone responsible.

Eight families were in the building, just five feet away from the side of the tall precipice.

Stranger Scares Purse Snatchers In Grab Attempt

Aiding Mrs. O. Miller, visitor to the city, when two men attempted to snatch her purse from her hand when she was walking on 103 avenue between 101 and 102 streets at 7.15 p.m., Wednesday, an unidentified stranger intervened and frightened the pair off. Police responded and drove around the area in search of the assailants. One described by Mrs. Miller as being tall, with a bearded face, and the other short and stout. But no trace of the duo was found.

LERNERS HERE FOR BIG GAME HUNTING TRIP

Party Seeks Big Horn Sheep in Mountain Park Territory

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lerner, famed big game hunters from New York, arrived in Edmonton Thursday morning on their way to Mountain Park, Alberta. They were here last year on a similar expedition.

Some of the biggest game may be found high in the Canadian Rockies, according to the two sports lovers.

RECORD BLUE SHEEP

Last year Mrs. Lerner bagged a record blue species of blue sheep in the territory north of Jasper National Park, and one of her more recent exploits was the landing of an 800-pound Kodiak bear.

Bighorn mountain sheep is the quest in the present expedition to Mountain Park. Later they will swing into the Brazeau country for elk. Winter will find them in New Zealand.

All of these trips are in the interests of the American museum of natural history.

Travelling via Canadian National Railways, Mr. and Mrs. Lerner are accompanied by William Lerner, 18-year-old nephew and Yale student, and W. J. Oliver, Calgary, their photographer.

Father Lavoie, O.M.I. Interment was made in the Edmonton Catholic cemetery. MANION URGES WORK PROJECTS TO AID RELIEF

Reforms In Economic System Required To Better Canada's State

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Sept. 1.—Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, National Conservative leader, said in an address here last night he would not be worried from the course he fixed in his Barry's Bay, Ont., "reform or revolution" speech by criticism from within the party ranks.

Wreck, anarchy and barbarism, ushered in by revolution, would come upon pressing reforms in the economic system—reforms to assure the comforts and needs of life to many could not without them—were made plain, he predicted.

APPALLING CONDITION

"Appalling" was the word used by Dr. Manion to describe an estimate recently given him by a federal official of "the hundreds of millions" spent by Canada on direct relief since the onslaught of depression.

"These millions did nothing but demoralize the people who received them," he said. "The money might better by far have been spent on public works—public works such as roads in New Brunswick. You need more hard-surfaced roads for your tourist traffic."

The National Conservative party must put human rights above special privilege, said Mr. Manion.

With 1,000,000 on relief and 500,000 unemployed, the Canadian scene could be painted as a sorry picture, said Dr. Manion. The Dominion has everything in the way of natural resources. Production is ample, but the failure is in distribution.

JEWS GIVEN 6 MONTHS TO LEAVE ITALY

ROME, Sept. 1.—All Jews who have settled in Italy since Jan. 1, 1919, must apply for permission to leave the country within six months by a cabinet decree.

The decree applied even to Jews who have become Italian citizens because citizenship conferred since that date was revoked.

The edict was made applicable to Italy proper, Libya and the Aegean Isles. No mention was made of Italian Africa.

The settlement of Jews in Italy from now on was prohibited.

The decree stated all persons born "of both parents of the Hebrew race regardless of religion."

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH
Millions Suffer Without Knowing!
You can't notice any stir from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is alive, most invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It may be the one thing you can't afford to have. Next time your other teeth, actually perfect, breath and spoil your pleasure.
Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off your plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." You'll find that ordinary care does not only check—it actually purifies plates and bridges, and rids your mouth of germs that cause bad breath. Here's how: Dissolve a POLIDENT Cleans, Purifies Like Magic tablet in a glass of water. Put plates or bridges in it. Presto! Bubbles! Almost instantly they loosen and rise to the surface, carrying with them all decaying matter, mucin-scum, stains, tartar, and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.
Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner, your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities. Good housekeeping. Tens of thousands of delighted users testify. Polident can costs only 40c at any drug store.

Turner Valley Oil Production Limited To 28,363 Barrels Daily

BOARD DROPS 6 WELLS FROM OIL LISTINGS

Old Arbitrary Proration Schedule and Potential System Abandoned

CALGARY, Sept. 1—Drastic rearrangement of allowable productions of all Turner Valley oil wells is contained in the general conservation order to become effective in Turner Valley at 8 a.m. Friday, which was put in the mail last night by the Alberta Natural Gas and Oil Conservation board.

The order provides for total production of Turner Valley of 28,363 barrels per day—approximately the same amount that is at present being produced at 56 per cent. proration under the old "potential" system.

47,500 BARRELS OUTPUT

Total output of Turner Valley wells according to test flows taken through a two-inch aperture is approximately 47,00 barrels per day. The former "potential" capacity of the entire field was approximately 53,000 barrels per day, but this was known generally to have been an over-estimation, and a number of wells in the valley were unable to produce their 56 per cent. of rated "potential."

The new conservation order lists individual allowable production quotas for each of the 53 crude-producing Turner Valley Wells. Six wells, formerly listed among the small crude producers, have been dropped from the list and designated as "gas wells," because of the large quantity of gas which they produce to yield a few barrels of oil.

EACH WELL RATED

By the new system, the old arbitrary proration schedule and potential system is abandoned, and each well is given its allowable rating based on four factors—gas-oil ratio, bottom-hole pressure, acreage drained by the well, and the rate of flow through a two-inch aperture.

Wells which have a high gas flow to produce each barrel of oil are penalized under the new regulations, and their production cut down, while those which have a good yield with a relatively small gas flow ration is United No. 3, which produced only 755 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil, while others range as high as 30,000 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil. Above 30,000 cubic feet, wells are listed as gas wells, and treated accordingly.

Accident Prevention Is Important Task for Police

TORONTO, Sept. 1.—E. Raymond Cato, chief of California highway patrol, charged before the International Police Congress here Wednesday police generally fail to recognize their duty in dealing with their greatest problem, accident prevention.

"Accident prevention is the greatest responsibility now resting upon police generally. It is a proven fact that selective enforcement intelligently applied will reduce accidents," he said, declaring most police forces fail to recognize that "the basic precept of police work is protection of life, limb and property.

"During 1937 about 39,500 persons were killed and more than 1,300,000 were injured as a result of automobile accidents. Compare these figures with loss of life from homicides and by fire and we find there were less than 8,000 murders in the United States for 1937 and about 8,200 died from fire.

"In view of these statistics, it seems clear that a complete reorganization of the basic principles of police training must be started immediately."

Canada-U.S. Pact Hinted Near By Euler's Decision

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—Decision of Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade to curtail his overseas visit and sail for Canada Saturday may indicate completion of the Washington negotiations for a new Canada-United States trade agreement is in the offing or the minister may have decided this is no time to seek to drum up trade in Europe.

Two years ago Mr. Euler visited Germany and Russia and on his present trip planned to go to Rome and other southern European centres after he had finished government business in the United Kingdom. He visited the Glasgow Exhibition.

RECRUITING AIR RAID PRECAUTION WORKERS SLOW

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The drive for 1,000,000 air raid precautions workers has gone to sleep during the summer holidays and will be given a new propaganda shot in the arm in October.

Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare who broadcast in June for 1,000,000 workers has about half that number, not many more than he had when he was broadcasting. A home office letter says Sir Samuel "considers it of great importance that every effort should be made to complete the enrolment of the first 1,000,000 by the end of this year."

Such a feat, the letter adds, would be an "unmistakable demonstration by the people that they are prepared to defend themselves if attacked" and would enable "local authorities to complete plans for the defence of their area."

650,000 Persons Connected With Air Raid Defence

British United Press

Nearly 12,000 doctors, thousands of medical students and dentists, 25,000 nurses and 60,000 policemen, have been trained in anti-gas work, while 50,000 employees of railway and public utility companies are undergoing a course of training. In addition, the organization has 500,000 volunteers.

There are now more than 5,000 instructional A.R.P. classes in the country.

CHAMBERLAIN, KENNEDY MEET FELT IMPORTANT

LONDON Sept. 1.— The diplomatic correspondent of the Manchester Guardian today reported Tuesday's meeting between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador, had given "substance" to President Roosevelt's recent speech at Kingston, Ont.

In that speech the president pledged the United States would go to the assistance of Canada if the Dominion were attacked.

"The interview between Chamberlain and the United States ambassador appears to have had exceptional importance," the diplomatic correspondent said. "It is believed here that the results of the interview are satisfactory indeed and that they give substance to the pronouncement recently made by Roosevelt."

FRIEDRICHSCHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 1.—Germany's latest zeppelin, the LZ-130, is to take to the air for the first time next week, lifted by hydrogen gas as was the Hindenburg, because non-inflammable helium still is not available.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, pioneer in zeppelin navigation, is to be in command of the flight to demonstrate his belief in the soundness of dirigible principles despite the destruction by explosion of the Hindenburg at Lakehurst, N.J., May 6, 1937.

The new ship will carry a crew for training purposes only and passengers are not to be carried until she is filled with helium.

RELAY CREWS MAY MAN U.S. ARMY PLANES

War Department Developing Plan To Use Ship 24 Hours Daily

By MACK JOHNSON

British United Press, Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The war department is developing plans to use multiple crews aboard army planes in case of war to permit the aircraft to operate on a "round-the-clock" basis except for refueling and repairs, it is learned.

Development of modern, long-range, high-speed planes and the inability of army fliers engaged in war missions to fly more than an average of four hours out of each 24, has given rise to the theory the planes could be used 24 hours daily by employing separate crews on a relay basis.

INCREASE EFFICIENCY

Under the plan, it would be possible theoretically to increase a plane's efficiency six times, by assigning relay crews to a plane at four-hour intervals.

If the studies are successful, they may result in a substantial booth in the army's present air corps personnel. At present there are 2,638 officers, 25,728 enlisted men and 740 flying cadets.

New type planes can stay aloft 10 to 15 hours while carrying out missions of 1,500 miles away.

STUDY FATIGUE FACTOR

"The department, through our medical and air corps officers, is studying the fatigue factor and its influence on flying," acting secretary of war Louis Johnson explained.

"It is our aim to have our planes manned to full efficiency and our crews in condition to perform any of the arduous missions that today must fall to the lot of the army flier."

SMALL AGRIC BACKBONE OF ANY COUNTRY

Sir Henry Page-Croft Finds Great Future Awaits Canadian West

TORONTO Sept. 1.—Sir Henry Page-Croft, British member of parliament and chairman of the Empire Industries association, told directors of the Canadian National Exhibition Wednesday he wanted to see "more people come from my country to enjoy the advantages of yours." Sir Henry has been touring western Canada in his investigation of land settlement possibilities.

He found a great future for mixed farming in the Canadian west, Sir Henry said. "The small farmer, who is able to feed and clothe himself is at the dispose of his surplus produce to advantage is the backbone of any country," he continued. "Such farmers out west were never struck so severely by depression as others in industrial sections."

Co-operation between Canada and Great Britain by Canada taking in British settlers would help Canada's secondary industries and strengthen the ties of Empire and create added good-will with English buyers.

GIRLS TO HOLD SWITCHBOARDS DURING RAIDS

British United Press

LONDON, Sept. 1.—If air raiders ever swoop on Great Britian, telephone girls all over the country will man the switchboards wearing special gas-masks fitted with microphones.

"Number, please?" will be spoken through the microphone and the answer will come back to the girls through headphones wired to their masks.

In national emergency, the telephone service would be one of the most vital links in Air Raid Precautions. It would carry the messages telling of the bombers approach, and would relay summons to duty to air raid wardens.

More than 1,000 girls from 200 London exchanges have already been in a gas chamber and have worked at the switchboards for 15 minutes wearing their masks. Thousands of other girls, all over Britain, have had similar instruction.

Royal Canadian Regiment Forces River Passage

ALLISTON, Ont., Sept. 1.—In gathering darkness intensified by a rainstorm, the Royal Canadian regiment forced the passage of the river Boyne in a spectacular attack last night at the close of the third day of manoeuvres participated in by all of Canada's permanent force units east of Manitoba.

The third day of the exercises, extending over 800 square miles south of Camp Borden, found the troops within striking distance of their objective. This is the theoretical destruction of military stores in the village of Angus and of the air base at Camp Borden.

Chief Walking Buffalo, Product Alberta Plains, Bead Salesman at Fair

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1.—Chief Walking Buffalo, for the past 23 years head of the Stoney Mountain Indians at Morley, Alta., sits in a teepee at the Canada Pacific Exhibition here selling beaded work.

The chief was invited here by Jack Fuller, cowboy artist, formerly of Banff and now at New Westminster, B.C.

Chief Walking Buffalo who traces his origin back to the Crow Indians, wears a medal presented to him by King George V when the late monarch visited Canada as Duke of York.

The chief dates his ancestry back to his great great grandfather, a Crow Indian on the Alberta - Saskatchewan boundary line, and another boy, were the only survivors when the Crow tribe was wiped out in an Indian war.

At the age of five one of the boys became lost on the prairies and according to tradition was protected by the Buffalo. He was later found by the Stoney Indians and eventually became chief of the tribe, as did the eldest son of his foster father.

The present chief was adopted by a white family and rechristened

Man Is Held In Connection With $60,000 Swindle

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—Captain of detectives James Mullen said a man identified as James Robert Hull, arrested Wednesday after he appeared at a doctor's office and asked for drugs, was sought in Vancouver, B.C., for questioning regarding a $60,000 swindle.

Mullen said Hull has been arrested at Seattle, San Diego, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. He said Hull was identified through a circular issued by Vancouver police.

B.C. EXECUTIVE WOULD PROBE C.C.F. ARRESTS

Attorney-General Ready to Investigate Blubber Bay Trouble

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1.—Harold Winch, Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation member of the British Columbia legislature, said Wednesday Attorney General Gordon S. Wismer told him he is considering sending a representative from his department to investigate the situation at Blubber Bay, on Texada Island, in the Gulf of Georgia.

Blubber Bay has been the centre of labor trouble for some months. Mr. Winch said his telephone conversation with the attorney general was a result of the alleged detention by police Tuesday of Colin Cameron, C.C.F. member of the legislature for Comox, and John Stanton, Vancouver barrister, at Blubber Bay.

Mr. Winch said he told the attorney general the whole C.C.F. legislative group of seven, of which he and Mr. Cameron are members, is indignant about activities of British Columbia police on the property of Pacific Lime company at Blubber Bay.

Mr. Winner told him, he said, that if he is ready to make affidavits of his charges against the police an investigation will be held.

Full Particulars Of Fruit Combine Charges Requested

VICTORIA, Sept. 1.—Attorney-general Gordon Wismer said Wednesday he had asked Godfrey Isaacs, fruit grower of Oyama in the Okanagan Valley, for full particulars of his charges that a fruit and vegetable marketing combine existed in Western Canada.

Mr. Wismer said particulars of the charge had been promised him while he attended the Liberal convention at Kelowna recently. So far they have not been received.

"Until we have the exact evidence before us we cannot know whether further provincial action is required," the attorney-general said.

Nothing to Conceal

Colonel Drew may find that it is unwise to inject party spite into defence issues. His attack on the Bren machine gun contract has recoiled on his head. Even papers which find some merit in his thesis bemoan the sly gibs flung at the government by this aspirant for Tory leadership in Ontario. It is agreed that the point of the article was spoiled by being dipped in political venom.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, the energetic defence minister, has always invited a review of this, or any other contract. Such a survey would have been held last session had time allowed. Mr. Mackenzie could not move that the inquiry be started as he heads the department under question, but he now makes it clear that he will, on his own initiative, have a full and searching review of the Bren contract begun by parliament when it convenes, or at once if possible.

There is nothing to conceal about the contract, Colonel Drew stands alone in fancying some sinister mystery in the manner of its signing. And it is strange, as well as sad, that a self-styled apostle of national defence should have attacked the government while a British arms mission was in Canada.

Colonel Drew should not be surprised if he finds himself being investigated as well as the Bren contract.

A Hopeful Precedent

Czech leaders seem anxious to exhaust every expedient ere they dismiss the minority question as impossible of peaceful solution. They have even gone so far as to allow Sudeten Germans to wear uniforms, hold meetings, and openly proclaim their loyalty to a political creed detested by a majority of citizens. This gesture is the latest in a long series of frank concessions by which it is hoped to disarm Henlein's group of its rancour.

The speed with which this issue has taken the spotlight has made people think that the Czechs and Slavs are heavy-handed and brutal to the Germans. Yet for many years the treatment accorded minorities by the followers of Masaryk and Benes was lauded by the League of Nations' minorities commission as being without parallel in Europe.

The Czech dispute is front page news not because the government there rules with scorpions, but simply because the minority groups happen to be particularly well organized, are vigorously led, and are thirsting for a quarrel.

In fact, the Sudeten Germans, in holding public meetings, enjoy a privilege denied the Nazi party of Hungary. Yet Hitler has no scruples about giving Horthy a five minute hand-clasp, even though the Hungary regent heads a nation whose treatment of minorities makes the Czech policy angelic by comparison.

Hitler remembers Bismark's caution that whoever controls ancient Bohemia is master of Europe. It is his desire to control Czechoslovakia, that bastion of the continent, that makes him pose as the god-father of outraged minority groups. He is not actuated by an impartial zeal to end wrong.

But a compromise settlement still is possible and can be reached by Viscount Runciman, provided the wish to achieve a reasonable solution exists.

What happened in Rumania recently may serve as a guide to the trend of events in Czechoslovakia. When the illomened Goga ministry collapsed last September, it left a festering mass of inflamed race hatreds as its legacy. The government a few weeks ago decided to open a new chapter in its relations with minorities. Every citizen, without regard to race, religion or language, was afforded cultural autonomy. A public grant for sectarian education also was made available. Various harsh laws were wiped off the statutes. There are 600,000 Germans in Rumania.

Whether the new found spirit of tolerance will be as marked in Rumania as the letter of its laws still remains enigmatic. But at least a temporary compromise has been reached and the danger of a violent eruption of feeling postponed.

If England and France can hold the ring for the endangered little state, and keep Germany's arrogant interference from poisoning the present discussions, there is no reason why the stalemate should not be resolved in justice to Czechs and Sudeten Germans alike.

Slums

Those people in Canada who believe that it is unwise to embark on an active social program financed by liberal credits and low interest should ponder the instructive example of England.

The ministry of health in Britain has issued a report showing that by means of such a policy nearly 800,000 people have been taken out of slum tenements since 1933, and 262,807 dwellings given approval in the housing program now underway for better living conditions for working people.

In the United States an unprecedented campaign to deal with the housing problem is making steady progress, under the spur of the lowest interest rates ever offered for public enterprises.

What this policy of financial sanity did in the housing field, it would do wherever and whenever applied.

But in Canada, unfortunately, the fossil fallacy that it is a sign of prosperity to be able to pay high interest rates still rules the field.

Canada Year Book

The publication of the 1938 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by authorization of Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical record of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1938 Canada Year Book extends to almost 1,200 pages, dealing with all phases of the national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A statistical summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-seven years ago.

Borden's Memoirs

Announcement is made that Sir Robert Borden's memoirs, which he devoted a large part of the leisure of his closing years, are about to be published. Sir Robert began wading through his mass of accumulated papers shortly after his retirement from active politics and it is said that he had completed the story of his life from earliest childhood until his retirement in 1920, before he died.

It is to be hoped (and it may be expected) that Sir Robert has frankly told the story of Canada's war efforts, the struggle to secure due recognition to overseas forces and how the government was formed. It will be interesting also to learn the inside facts of the resignation of Sir Sam Hughes, while there will be plenty of interesting reading centering round the Versaille conference and the struggle to have Canadian status recognized.

While it is some years since this history was made yet not too long a period has elapsed to rob these pregnant days of their absorbing interest. It is a book that will be eagerly awaited by thousands in Canada and abroad.—Vancouver News-Herald.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Old age and sickness, two of the dread terrors of men and women who toil in Canada, are no longer terrors for their cousins in Australia. After five weeks of vigorous debate, Prime Minister Joseph Lyons of Australia has brought his National Health and Pensions Insurance bills safely through both of the Australian Houses of Parliament. This ensures 1,850,000 of Australia's population—all those earning less than $1,800 a year—protection against the fear of want. There is no stigma of indigency about it as in the case of our Canadian old age pension. At 65 every man becomes automatically eligible for a pension of $4 a week with free medical advice and free medicine. At 60 every woman becomes eligible for $3 a week for life with free doctor and medicine.

PENSIONS IN AUSTRALIA

A similar scale of payment is provided for every working man and woman, irrespective of age, who falls ill, with an allowance of 70 cents a week for each child under the age of fifteen. Widows will receive $2.50 a week for life or until remarriage (to be increased to $3 a week after 1944) with 70 cents a week for each child under the age of 15.

Doesn't it make many a man or woman wish they'd gone to Australia instead of coming to Canada, when they left the old land years ago in the hope of improving their fortunes?

A pension scheme so vast as the new Australian scheme calls for a lot of money. Wholesale curing of people isn't as expensive as wholesale killing, but it runs into big figures. The capitalized initial deficit totals $963,800,000, requiring initial grants for the first five years of $3,950,000 a year. After 1944 it will be raised annually till it reaches $39,500,000. The health insurance scheme is less costly. The initial deficit is capitalized at $69,125,000. Every person employed under a contract of service at less than $1,800 a year, who is over fourteen years of age, will be required to contribute. Men will be assessed 60 cents a week and women 40 cents a week—half payable by the worker and the other half by the employer. After five years contributions will be raised ten cents a week.

AS EASY AS WAR FINANCE

Opposition came from two sources. The Labor party fought to have all the cost furnished by the Treasury. This Premier Lyons declared to be actuarially unsound, and unsafe because wholly dependent on the condition of the Treasury. The Medical Association opposed it, claiming that the allowance of $2.25 per person for 1,500 patients was insufficient, allowing them only $3,500 a year (in addition to their private practices). Both objections were over-ruled.

Australia has led the way. The world is undergoing change. Work must grow scarcer and leisure more plentiful as technology advances. How long must it be ere Canada follows in Australia's footsteps in inaugurating pension and health legislation on an adequate scale?

With all the accusations of sabotage in Russia, exceptional care is given to the protection of Stalin. A story in illustration is told about the Russian dictator. From a neighboring country a medical specialist was summoned to advise on Stalin's health. In the consulting room came a man, seemingly the Russian dictator, who submitted to examination and questioning about his health. No sooner had he gone out than another man of similar type and dressed in similar costume came for advice. After he had gone came a third and fourth.

WHICH ONE WAS STALIN?

"I don't know which was Stalin, if any," said the doctor. "They all looked very much alike and all were dressed alike. I advised each, but I don't know which was Stalin."

The News and the Truth

A once familiar note is now missing from interviews appearing in the press, by returning travellers from Europe, statements by personages gazing from the platforms of trains, or less distinguished visitors, pontifical deliverances by politicians and the rest of the folk who think it in order to let the world know their views about things.

The missing note is the smug assurance that everything is peaceful in Europe, that nobody over there has any fears about war, that the statesmen are equal to the petty emergencies that may arise, accompanied (invariably) by the observation that the European who says to the contrary are the creations of mendacious and sensational journalists.

It is some considerable time since any Winnipegger returning from a three-weeks' visit to Europe has failed to observe that he had to return to Winnipeg to learn from the newspaper headlines that there was danger and tension in Europe. There was a time not so long ago when no resident of Winnipeg, of a certain type, would regard his European journey as complete unless he topped it off with observations of this kind, suggesting, of course, that the really great had confided in him, giving him true inside facts for circulation in the outer marenes.

The missing note is not, however, not peculiar to Winnipeg; much the same sort of thing has gone on—and especially in Great Britain—wherever there are newspapers that have sought to discharge their obligations to their public by keeping them informed even at the facts could be gathered in a world where officialdom has been intent upon suppressing or coloring them to its own ends—of the steady deterioration in the international situation and the increasing danger of war. They have been represented as designedly misleading the public, encouraging war talk and generally making things difficult for the statesmen in their pursuit of what they have been pleased to call "policies of appeasement." Not many newspapers, however, fell under these censures; they mostly found it more comfortable to be part of the "official press" and

Old Country Letter

By J. E. NORCROSS

LONDON, Eng.—(By Mail)—According to a contributor to The Times the "dragons" of Suffolk are now extinct.

How Suffolk came to have the "dragons" is quite an interesting little story. It seems that a great many years ago an enterprising Englishman procured some small locomotives and other rolling-stock and took them out to China where he proposed to build a railway.

J. E. NORCROSS

The Chinese saw the engines, presumably in operation on an experimental length of track and that was quite enough for them. They said they were dragons and refused to permit them to be let loose in their country. It will be recalled that during the closing years of the nineteenth century a well-known Canadian railway-builder went to China with the same idea but had no greater success.

To return to the "dragons," the entire plant was re-shipped to England and set up as a light railway in Suffolk running over the twelve miles of flat country between the sleepy market-town of Halesworth and the still more sleepy port of Southwold—the latter to become famous in later years for the boys' camp established by the King when Duke of York, which, as reported in this correspondence, he visited the other day.

According to the writer mentioned the "dragons" looked "rather like trains, and they tried to behave like trains.

"But there were breakdowns and little tardinesses and the railway officials were accused of delaying traffic while they cooked pies and potatoes in the engine boiler."

"The dragon-trains were grumbled at, but they were loved. After all, the good little things drove you to Southwold, the place where you most wanted to be."

Came a day, however, when giants appeared in the land, fought the "dragons" and vanquished them. The giants were motor-omnibuses. Today the tracks are overgrown with grass.

Your Health

By DR. FRANK McCOY

A very valuable contribution to the meal may be made by the addition of some kind of soup. However, the same rules which govern the combining of food in the solid form also hold good in the case of soup. It is not wise to combine indiscriminately too many different kinds of food at a meal and the same thing is true in making wholesome soup.

Meat soups may be made from the same kind of meat as is used at the meal, that is if any kind of beef is taken at the meal a soup may be made from beef stock and the non-starchy vegetables. When you wish a thick, hearty soup try ground round steak with a mixture of ground or chopped up vegetables. It will be found that a better flavor is obtained when the vegetables are ground, and the soup made thicker by simply boiling out a good deal of the water.

Starchy soups may often be used to advantage as the principal hot dish at the lunch meal. These starchy soups may use macaroni, rice, barley, or potatoes as the base. I believe that the best rule is to use the same kind of starch in any given soup. Ordinarily, I do not recommend the usual thickening agents used in soups. In the case of the starchy soups, the starch itself will usually make the soup thick enough. However, determined effort to thicken may be used when it is desirable to make a thick cream soup. The flour is browned by being heated in a dry skillet and must be stirred frequently in order that all parts will turn a rich, golden brown. You will find that this adds much to the value as a thickener in the preparation of vegetable cream soups.

For the sake of variety, it may be desirable to use a non-starchy vegetable soup. This soup will fill up well and may be used for either lunch or dinner. A combination of several of the non-starchy vegetables may be used, such as carrots, spinach, celery, parsley, etc.

These may be diced and should be cooked together long enough to bring out the full flavor. This non-starchy soup is often of value when used as an exclusive diet for several days, and makes a very agreeable light partial fasting diet, which is satisfying to the patient, but will at the same time give the digestive organs something of a rest from their labors.

As a variation from this basic non-starchy vegetable soup, a delicious puree may be prepared by using the same vegetables, cooking them until tender and then putting them through a sieve or colander. Warm again over low heat and add cream. In seasoning soups, the skillful cook will find that herbs offer an easy way to put different flavors into soups; however, such herbs must be used with a sparing hand. When seasoning is desired other than the herbs, the soup may be flavored by adding butter and a small amount of salt at the table. If you follow this method of allowing each person to add as much salt as he desires, each diner may season his soup to suit himself and you will stop the complaints coming from those who think the soup is either too salty or not salty enough.

not offend.

A London despatch now conveys the interesting information that the British government has found it necessary to give a tip to these tame papers that it is advisable that they should let their readers know that conditions are hopeful are desperate and menacing in order that they may be prepared for possible eventualities, or in other words, for war. It may be difficult for them at this late hour to get their public to understand that things of more real importance than cricket matches have been going on in the world.

It looks as though the period of make-believe, of evasion, of subterfuge, of pretence, is about over; and with its disappearance there may be a belated realization that among the agencies that tried, perhaps unavailingly as events may show, to serve the course of peace, the newspapers that gave the news and told the truth, day by day and month by month, hold high rank.—Winnipeg Free Press.

What Is Your Opinion?

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of The Bulletin are too long for publication. Our correspondents would do well to study brevity. A limit of 350 words must be insisted on.

Say It With Flowers

Editor, Bulletin: Social Credit as I now see it, Light in our darkness we beseech thee o' Lord. From a lowly tallow candle sprang many large and small inventions such as electricity, telephone, steam and gasoline ships, gas engines, radio, Zeppelins, airplanes and many other useful inventions.

Experiment is the mother of inventions. Through the world we have experimented in all kinds of governments and party politics, financially and otherwise. All have failed to meet the requirements of the suffering people. Surely every sane person who now sees the amount of debts (through mismanagement and squandering) piled on the people against homes, farms, etc., will not begrudge a helping hand and encouragement to those who are willing to get us out of the mire in which we were thrown in the past 50 years.

Let us put over the experiment in Alberta. I believe it will be a reality throughout the whole Dominion, and then throughout the world. The people of this province have the opportunity and we have got fearless leaders. Say it with flowers instead of brick bats. We all should be thankful to the Almighty who is giving health, strength and encouragement to these, our leaders, to carry the wishes of the people to a final result.

Matters in various ways are improving, but some of the long suffering through no fault of their own still to be asked, and those who have suffered through the crooked financial system will sooner or later be rewarded; right will and must prevail. The immigration policy by a clique of financiers, I maintain is wrong. The majority of the people of Canada are paying dearly today for the class of immigrants in the past. They were brought here at the expense of the respective governments to settle on farms. The majority failed to make good and returned. A large percentage stayed on farms, three or four months, then quit and went to cities and towns and were given preference over born and Canadian citizens in the various governments throughout the Dominion, forcing them to go and seek employment elsewhere. Those that did remain on farms had to seek relief. I maintain that in the future if there is any preference to be given to settlers any part of Canada on the land or its natural resources, it should be given to our own people, as charity begins at home first, last, and always. Our cities are overcrowded and thousands are unemployed. Give them the same inducement as outsiders who don't understand our methods of we theirs.

With a big loss to this country in cash, annoyance and trouble, take down the barrier between the United States and Canada and give both countries free access. They are American people like ourselves. Then the Dominion will prosper as one united people, barring no outsiders from entering if they have the money to start themselves, providing they become naturalized Canadian subjects. Then we would be logged a nation in this world and capable to defend ourselves. No part of North or South America to be colonized for the sole benefit of any nation. This change unless have been brought about 50 years ago. There will always be opposition, and I have to wipe out the stains of the old line parties and change the decayed system, let us have only two new parties already in line, namely, the Dominion S.C. and the C.C.F., taking as a platform the question of removing the gates between U.S. and Canada, and a vote taken by the people for liberty, justice and freedom.

There is another matter which don't make commonsense, taxing improvements. It is a stagnation to development and a detriment to any country. Taxing revenue and profits is proper. It gives ambition a fighting chance. Build a new store alongside an old established one, what happens? Prosperity for the new-and-up-to-date; failure and disappointment for the old. Until taxing on improvements is abolished there will be no chance for small business. The former, or the working class. Finance will beat him every time. Homesteading should not be taxed until patent is issued; five years being the limit in timbered districts, three years in brush, one year on prairie land, then a uniform taxation for 10 years, then after that period on the productive method.

The above system if carried out properly and fairly will meet with success. I am not looking for laurels or feathers in my hat; just expressing my humble opinion of what all Canadians are entitled to for the best interest of this Dominion. Canada for Canadians all the time.

By FRED WILLIAMS

Many years ago I happened to be in Charlottetown on a first of September. Of course, one of the first sights of the city to be visited was the ancient legislative building, in which the inter colonial conference to consider a proposed maritime union had been held on that same date in 1864. I was shown what was claimed to be the original table at which the conference sat. Years later, in Regina, I was shown a similar table, which was said to have been the table of 1864, my western informant asserting that the one at Charlottetown was "just another table."

However that be, this is no place to write about the battle of the tables. What I set out to tell was that on the table in the council room on that Sept. 1, when I was there, there lay two wreaths, one of roses and lilies of the valley, with silver white ribbons dedicated to "The Dominion of Canada"; the other a garland of cypress, laurel and ivy, and dark blue ribbon attachments, dedicated to the "Departed Colony of Prince Edward Island." I do not suppose there are any of the anti-confederates left now, but for many years after "The Island" joined the Dominion in 1873 there were men and women who asserted that they had been coerced into Canada by the colonial office to avert attempted annexation from Boston (about which I shall revive a story tomorrow).

That conference of 1864 was the true cradle of the Dominion of Canada.

Canada has never had any cause to regret that the Dominion was completed by the addition of Prince Edward Island. Let us hope that the ancient "anti" sentiment died with the generation of which I wrote in the opening sentences.

Dynamite Destroyed

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Sept. 1. —On the orders of Ontario provincial police, 4,250 sticks of 12-years-old dynamite were destroyed at a quarry near here. The move was thought to be inspired by the explosion at the Dodge summer camp which preceded the drowning of young Daniel Dodge two weeks ago.

New Saskatoon Depot Considered By Hungerford

SASKATOON, Sask., Sept. 1.—S. J. Hungerford, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways and president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, put in a busy day in the central Saskatchewan area on arrival here from Calgary early Wednesday morning.

Mr. Hungerford had a lengthy conference here with the Saskatoon board of trade and the matter of the new station in Saskatoon was an important part of the conversation.

At Regina, the official party will look over the company properties and a close inspection will be made of the Trans-Canada Air Lines hangar and property at the airfield. It is expected Mr. Hungerford and party will arrive in Winnipeg on Saturday morning.

Salt was considered so vital in the ancient world that one of the oldest roads in Italy was called Via Salaria. Over this road, the important commodity was carried from Ostia into the Sabine country.

Elizabeth Baker Is Bride Of Dr. James Morton Mather At Evening Hour Ceremony

TWILIGHT hour of half after seven on Wednesday evening was the hour chosen for a lovely wedding ceremony when Miss Elizabeth Eleanor Baker became the bride of Dr. James Morton Mather of Toronto.

Performed in Knox United church in Edmonton South where for the occasion flowers of the late summer were arranged in fragrant profusion, the ceremony claims the interest of many friends in the city as well as many in provincial and eastern Canadian circles.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATE

The bride, the only daughter of Mr. Perren E. Baker, former minister of education in the U.F.A. government and Mrs. Baker is well known in city and University of Alberta campus circles. A graduate of the U. of A., she has her Bachelor of Arts degree, and her diploma from the School of Education. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta fraternity.

Dr. Mather, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mather of New Lowell, Ontario, is a graduate of the medical school of the University of Toronto, and has fraternity affiliation with Sigma Chi fraternity.

For the ceremony, the church was thronged with many personal and family friends of the bridal couple. Clusters of sweet pea blossoms marked the guest pews, and ushering the guests to their places were Mr. Havelock Maclennan and Mr. Howard Peto.

Dr. George A. Macdonald assisted by Major D. E. Cameron performed the ceremony.

GOWN OF WHITE LACE

White lace, fashioned on youthfully slender lines, the skirt finishing in a slight train was the lovely gown in which the bride looked so radiant for her wedding. Sleeves of the bridal frock were made leg o' mutton style while another attractive feature of her frock was a fitted jacket, fastened at the waist with four lace buttons.

Accessories were all in white and on her head she wore a small Juliet cap of pearls, from which, falling softly about her shoulders and to the floor, was a veil of silken net. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. A. T. Baker of Nemiscam, Alberta, who attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor, was frocked for the occasion in turquoise blue chiffon, her gown made with a very full skirt, short bolero jacket and puffed sleeves. Accessories in Chateau Wine matched the wide girdle at her waistline and in her hair she wore clusters of roses from which fell a chapel veil. Her bouquet was of deep hued American Beauty roses.

Mr. A. T. Baker of Nemiscam, brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom.

Wedding marches were played by Mr. W. M. Mawer and during the signing of the register Miss Lutie Jessup sang "All Joy Be Thine."

RECEPTION

Garneau home of the bride's parents was the setting for the reception to about 60 guests which followed the ceremony. Receiving in the bridal party, Mrs. Baker looked very smart in a hostess gown of white net, embroidered in blue. Her gown had a waist length jacket and she wore accessories in navy, her hat being a large brimmed model in taffeta. She wore a corsage of red roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Pink and white sweet peas and vari-toned snapdragons were arranged attractively throughout the reception rooms and on the bride's table, which was centred by a beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by tapers in cream.

Major D. E. Cameron proposed the toast to the bride.

Presiding at the tea urns were Mrs. A. C. Rutherford and Mrs. A. H. Baker of Calgary, aunt of the bride. Mrs. W. D. Spence assisted in the living room and assisting in the passing of tea were Miss Evelyn Murphy, Miss Helen Williamson, Miss Barbara McLaren, Miss Jean Forrester, Miss Jean Carlyle, Miss Nova McCulloch, Miss Laura Allyn of Red Deer and Miss Catherine Marshall.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Baker and Mr. Perrin Baker of Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Baker of Nemiscam, and Miss Laura Allyn of Red Deer.

TO LIVE IN TORONTO

Later Dr. and Mrs. Mather left for Toronto, where they will make their home, the bride travelling in a one-piece wool dress of hunter's green. Her top coat was in navy tweed, colored in wolf and her hat, bag and other accessories were all in navy.

Style Vogues For 1938 Are Told By Paris

PARIS, Aug. 31—While there are eccentricities to be picked out in each one of the Paris collections, these should not be accepted as style pointers—but merely as so many whimsies which the couturiers indulge in twice a year.

Take day clothes, for example. These are fundamentally as suitable, sensible and practical as they can be, or as far as you want them to be, and still look like something. It is really only from the time that the lights go on that mad clothes come into the picture.

FIRST CHANGE

The first change that one notes in the new coats and jackets is that something has happened from the waist upwards. There are the new tall collars, some as high as they were fifteen years ago, following the line set by the new high-swept coiffures. Shoulders are rounded and padded, or perhaps squared, and there is a widish look about them.

Next comes the change in the waistline, more radical than it appears to be at first. There is a distinctly laced-in (very different from nipped-in) look about the new waist, and the rounded hips which women have worked so hard to efface are once more in the limelight. Also the new line is set distinctly an inch or two lower than what we are now wearing, and combined with the jackets, the illusion is one of a difference of several inches, until the eye gets accustomed to it.

WEARER'S CHOICE

Skirts are absolutely a personal matter and there is no hard and fast rule regarding lengths. Some just barely cover the knee, others scarcely reach mid-calf. The former look disproportioned with, say, a wrist-length jacket, but youthful with a hip-length box jacket or a brief bolero. It is all a matter of using your head and eyes when choosing your fall suit.

Most of the skirts are straight, slim; sometimes they are bias-cut in front only, with a centre seam which just hints at a flare. Molyneux, on the other hand, makes a circular skirt of a number of narrow gores, other houses continue to show kilted schoolgirl skirts, but the plain skirt, with perhaps a side kick pleat fore and aft, or an inverted pleat, is sure to be right.

Coats have either a great deal of swing to them or else they are fitted and flareless, while others are as straight as a flagpole.

Sport coats are warm and comfortable looking. Thanks to the recent visit of England's Scotch Queen, the Scots note intervenes here in the form of large tartans, and checks are very much in favor, on the outside or as a lining or facing. Capes have staged a comeback — usually as a third piece to a sports ensemble. They vary from the hip-length to the full-length type and are either fitted at the shoulders or else swing from a squared yoke.

Fur trims necklines, hemlines, pockets and sleeves — in bands, rolls, toraades; in the form of appliqued flowers (for the more dressy models); in panels front and back, leaving little of the coat itself to be seen, or else in narrow bands outlining the fronts or stressing a flared, swinging hem.

BASHAW—Over fifty were present at a shower arranged recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. McDonell to compliment Miss Jeanette Rosilind, a September bride-elect. Cards and games were enjoyed during the evening and later many lovely gifts, including a set of community plate silverware were presented to the honored guest by Miss Lena Pearson on behalf of those present.

GRETNA GREEN, Scotland, Sept. 1—The two established "anvil priests" at Gretna Green now have feminine competition, for Mrs. Jessie Graham, 79, who says she was the original "anvil priestess" in Gretna, has gone back to work after 30 years of retirement.

Gretna is a village across the English border in Scotland where marriage can be effected by a simple "declaration before witnesses." For more than a century it has been the custom to make the declaration before a blacksmith, hence the anvil used by non-blacksmith "priests."

A recent increase in the number of run-away marriages caused Mrs. Graham's decision. "I think the time is ripe for a comeback," she said. "I might as well have a share of what's going as anybody else."

Complimenting Mrs. T. H. Hay of Regina, national president of the Catholic Women's League, who is a visitor at present in Calgary, a luncheon was given in the Alhambra Room of the T. Returning from their honeymoon to the Pacific coast, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cecil Hewson have taken up residence in the Westminster Apartments. Before her mid-month marriage Mrs. Hewson was Miss Margaret Pauline McBain, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McBain of Edmonton South.

Gladioli, sweet peas and snapdragons in colorful profusion in the home of Mrs. C. H. Mison was an attractive setting for the delightful shower arranged by Mrs. A. T. Sheppard and Mrs. W. Mathews recently to honor Miss Irene Hastie, whose marriage takes place early in September. Cards and cup reading by Mrs. Bryant entertained guests and later Miss Hastie was made the recipient of a lovely silver tea service from those present. Guests at the affair included Mrs. C. H. Mison, Mrs. E. Thomas, Mrs. C. Parkin, Mrs. M. O'Reilly, Mrs. R. Sellis, Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. H. Cole, Mrs. H. Cable, Mrs. T. Walton, Mrs. D. S. Kavanagh, Mrs. A. M. Creighton, Mrs. C. T. Gypsy Revel Is Gay Club Party Theme

An open campfire casting a warmth of color and cheer into the dark night, was the setting for a gay gypsy party one evening this week when members of the Young Hearts' Club entertained their friends at an interesting summer outing.

Colorful costumes of the partyers, and happy talk and laughter floating around the fireside, made the affair a pleasant one, in fact, that even raindrops that splashed down for a few minutes could not spoil the merriment.

Present were Miss Mary Boyle, Miss Gertrude Edgerton, Miss Marguerite Runck, Miss Beryl O'Connor, Miss Veronica Street, Miss Anne McHale, Miss Bertha Ropert, Miss Thilda Haley, Miss Joan Lovette, Miss Frances Payne, Miss Phyllis McNeil, Miss Ina Lafontaine, Miss Eileen McCann, Miss Margaret Costello, Miss Kitty Devaney, Miss Nellie Brovey.

Mr. John McDonald, Mr. Frank Curtis, Mr. Myles Hague, Mr. Dan Krupa, Mr. Lloyd Tighe, Mr. A. Arthur, Mr. Pat O'Flagherty, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Jack Tighe.

Mr. Bernard Dunnigan, Mr. Harold Voll, Mr. Garner Josey, Mr. Roy Wilson, Mr. Pete Cully, Mr. Doug Strachan, Mr. Charles Devaney, Mr. Gib. Pierce, Mr. Roy Josey, Mr. Tom Devaney.

Fashion-Wise Women Value Accessories

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—The woman who always looks smart realizes the importance of fine accessories.

If her budget forces her to economize on something, she'd much rather pay a little less for a dress and be able to get truly excellent shoes, bag, hat and gloves to wear with it than to spend a great deal on the dress and have to buy shoddy, uninteresting accessories.

WISE SHOPPER

She shops diligently until she finds shoes that are comfortable as well as flattering to her feet. She wouldn't dream of wearing high-heeled patent leather sandals with her tweeds or flat-heeled, sports type oxfords with her silk dresses. Generally speaking, all of her shoes are fundamentally simple. They may be unusual and new, heelless and toeless or whatever, but they have a quiet, well-bred air about them all the same.

If she is very short, she doesn't go in for novelty shoes of any kind. The same is true if she happens to have a top-heavy figure. Only the tall and slender can wear attention-getting types.

The glove wardrobe consists of plain pull-ons in various leathers—all absolutely devoid of fussy trimmings. She picks simple pigskin pull-ons for sports, driving and strenuous everyday wear; equally simple ones in chamois or suede or a more serviceable leather, like capeskin, for ordinary street wear; lovelier suede chamois models, but cut on the same lines, for dressy occasions and white kid or chamois pull-ons for evening.

BAGS

If she's tall or if she is quite large, she carries big bags—the bigger the better. If she's short, she chooses little ones.

She wears wide belts and girdle effects only if her waistline is diminutive and if she is quite tall. Otherwise, narrow belts are her forte.

Weddings

LARSON—JOHNSON

LOUGHEED, Aug. 26. — Trinity Lutheran church was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Erna E. Johnson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Johnson, became the bride of Olaf P. Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Larson of Irma. Rev. Mr. Stolce performed the ceremony.

The bride who was gowned in a toe-length model of white silk sheer worn with a bolero jacket, and a long veil of silk net, which was caught to her head by a band of tiny seed pearls, was attended by Miss Mary McEachern of Killam. She wore blue embroidered net over taffeta, and a wreath of pink flowers in her hair. The bride carried pink roses, and the bridesmaid, pink and white sweet peas. Mr. T. Larson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Couple Honored On Eve Of Departure For Minnesota

KILLAM, Aug. 26—More than 100 members and friends of the Baptist church in Killam met in the church one evening recently to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Miller, who are leaving shortly for St. Paul, Minnesota, where Mr. Miller will continue his study of theology.

Mr. Henry Sorenson voiced the regret of the church members at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, and later Miss Elaine Bergh made the couple the recipients of a handsome farewell gift.

Taking part in the program during the evening were Mrs. Ansell, Miss M. Harvey, Miss Bergh, Miss Lily Larson, Mrs. O. White, Mrs. N. A. MacPherson, and Messrs. Lake, Roberts, Bergh, Alex Sorenson and Everett Sorenson and Mr. D. T. Evan.

President

MRS. ALETHEA VAN SLYKE

who at a recent meeting of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Hairdressers' Association was appointed president of the organization for the coming year. Other officers on the executive with Mrs. Van Slyke are Mr. Norris Pacey, past president, Mrs. Lillian Hynchie, vice-president and Mrs. Mary Spratt, secretary-treasurer. During the meeting plans to participate in the coming convention of hairdressers of the Western Canadian provinces to be held in Calgary shortly were made.

Miss Mary Barbara Mason is expected to return to her home in Edmonton on Friday evening after holidaying during the summer months at the Pacific coast.

An ideal vacation dress, and especially so, if you spend your summer in town . . . and week-ends in the country. The bolero jacket makes it so smart for spectator wear as well as for sunning and for active sports. It completely hides the sun back of the figure-flattering dress. A very cool, smart and practical fabric is printed cotton of hopsacking weave. Of course sharkskin in white, pink or aqua is lovely, too. Printed pique, linen and washable silks are other popular fabrics. You'll find set many occasions to wear the bolero jacket over other frocks. It's one of the simplest ensembles to sew and amazingly low in price. The easy to follow pattern has a picture instruction chart. Style No. 3280 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 39-inch material with 3¼ yards of binding for dress; and 2¾ yard of 39-inch material for bolero.

Two MacMahon Brothers Meet For First Time

PORT CREDIT, Ont., Sept. 1.—Father Coleman MacMahon arrived here yesterday from Kenya colony, Africa, on a three-month furlough to Canada. Part of his holiday will be spent here with a brother, Michael, whom he never before had met. Michael came to Canada before Father MacMahon was born. Their parents live in Tipperary, Ireland.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour into your two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that will act on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills. They contain two extracts of bile flowing freely and makes you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

In the "gold old days" during the World War everyone did a little budgeting. Flour was something to cherish and sugar was rich weight in Liberty Bonds. "Victory Bread" was a serious obligation. It meant any yeast bread had to contain 80 per cent only of wheat flour and 38 per cent wheat-flour substitute and 12 per cent potato. If you are old enough, you may recall these substitute meals, and their economy may still appeal. Here are a few of those recipes which the U.S. Food Administration worked out as a war-time measure.

ROLLED OOATS BREAD

One-half cup liquid, ½ cup compressed yeast, ½ cup mashed potato, 1 tablespoon corn syrup, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon fat, 1 cup ground oats, 6 ounces wheat flour.

Make a batter of liquid, yeast, syrup, mashed potato and half of the ground oats. Let it rise for 1 hour, then add the salt, fat, remainder of oats and flour. The dough is stiffer than ordinary bread dough.

Knead thoroughly, set aside until it rises double in size. Knead again, mold into loaf and when it has again risen to double in bulk, bake 50 minutes to 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven (400 degrees F.) After 15 minutes lower temperature slightly and finish baking.

DATE PUDDING

Three tablespoons cornstarch, ½ cup milk, 1¾ cups hot milk, ½ cup syrup, 12 pitted dates, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix cornstarch with ½ cup milk Heat 1¾ cups milk in double boiler. Add cornstarch, corn sydup, dates, cut small and salt. Stir until thick, cover and cook for twenty minutes. All vanilla and pour into a dish to cool. Prunes may be used as a substitute for the dates.

CONSERVATION CHOCOLATE CAKE

One-fourth cup vegetable fat, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 eggs, 3 cup corn syrup, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 squares chocolate, melted, ½ cup milk, 2 cups barley flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the shortening and sugar, add the egg yolks, syrup and melted chocolate and beat well. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk. Add vanilla and fold in beaten whites of eggs. Bake in loaf or layers in moderate oven (375 degrees F.)

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Sliced peaches, brown sugar, cream and whole milk, dry cereal, scrambled eggs, toasted rolled oats bread, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Tomato juice, waffles, bacon, maple syrup, tea, milk.

Dinner: Melon cup, broiled fish or frozen swordfish, lemon butter, parley potatoes, broiled stuffed tomatoes, date pudding, vanilla ice cream sauce, coffee, milk.

Good Conversation Wins Friends

"Here's to the girl with the dimpled chin," says Phil, toasting Evelyn with an icecream cone.

"Here's to the man with the friendly grin," answers Evelyn quickly catching the spirit of the occasion.

Neither takes such conversational chitchat seriously, but it always paves the way to really important talk. Ambitions, plans, chummy secrets.

How about it? Is it hard for you to keep a conversation rolling along? Take these tips.

1. Be natural. Say, "I want to tell you," not "I desire to inform you."

2. Call your companion by name often. It's that "Me-to-You" spirit that puts him at ease.

3. Avoid inquisitiveness. Don't ask Jack if he's broken with Flora. Let him tell you of his own free will.

4. Avoid worn-out slang as, "Oh yeah?" "And how?" "You're telling me!"

Be so interesting conversationalist. Our 32-page booklet gives hints on small talk, telephone conversation, and also phrases. How to use your voice.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Secrets of Good Conversation" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of booklet.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

DEAR MISS DIX: My fiance seems obsessed with the idea of finding out what sort of a wife I will make and continually asks me what I can do. What kind of a laundress am I? Can I cook? Can I entertain? Can I do this or that? What sort of a money-saver am I? If he has to know these things about me, why can't he have found out without asking me frankly? As a wife, I want to do my part, and expect to, but I want a husband who would marry me for love, and I couldn't cook an egg and thought money was something to throw at the birds, just because he loved me. There are such men.

D. M.

Answer: If you expect to be a romantic ideal instead of a working partner to your husband you had better walk wide of the altar, because marriage isn't that-a-way at all. The husbands who put their wives up on a pedestal and burn incense at their feet, no matter how trifling and no-account and wasteful they may be, are simply the creations of lady novelists. They don't exist in real life. So if you wait to marry until you find a man who will still think you glamorous when he has to get his own breakfast they will carve "Miss" on your tombstone.

Marriage is a business as well as a sentimental proposition, and the success of it depends just as much upon a woman doing her part to upon a man doing his, and it is just as important that the wife should be a good cook as that the assound should be a good provider.

No home can be happy if the man at the head of it is a neer-do-well, whose house is a hovel, whose children are in rags and hungry. Nor is any home happy where the woman at the head of it is a lazy sloven, whose floors are upswept, whose beds are unmade and who poisons her family on her cooking.

And I think that any girl should put the man she is going to marry through the same sort of questionnaire and find out just how much money he has, and what his chances of success in business are and whether he is a waster or a saver. She would do well also to make a few searching inquiries into his idea about the division of labor and money in a family and get his notion of the general status of a wife. It would save a lot of divorces if young people would find out before marriage what sort of husbands and wives they were getting, instead of waiting until after they were married to discover that they have gotten misfit mates.

It is true that, carried away by a pretty face or some physical allure, men are often so infatuated that they marry girls whom they know to be totally unsuited to them and who possess none of the qualities they need in a wife.

So I think, D. M., that you will make a mistake if you break off your engagement with your fiance because he wants to find out what sort of a wife you will make. It looks as if he intended to stick to as bargain and be married to you for a long time.

—DOROTHY DIX.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON

There are many so-called rules of play in bridge, but only one that has a mathematical basis. That, of course, is the rule of eleven. During the last few years I have written about this rule several times, but since there always are new players sprouting up, I shall repeat it now.

"When the card led is the leader's fourth highest of the suit, subtract the denomination (number of pips) of the card from the (card) number eleven. The result is the total number of cards, higher than the card led, held by the three other players."

The rule has many highly valuable uses. Today's hand illustrates one of the lesser known uses.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Turning our attention to the bidding for a moment we should note that North correctly raises the no trump instead of wasting time and breath on the disclosure of his diamond suit. North has a very fair hand in support of no trump. A two no trump takeout would also disclose anything like North's strength and, on the other hand, a jump takeout to three diamonds would be an outrageous overbid.

West opens the five of spades. East wins with the king and returns the jack. Now what should declarer do? Should he, or should he not, cover the queen? (We are, of course, assuming that declarer does not know the adverse distribution of spades). Aside from a sheer guess the answer cannot be found except through shrewd and unusual application of the rule of eleven! The modus operandi in this case is as follows: Declarer subtracts West's five spot from the fixed number eleven, and thereby finds that there were originally six cards higher than the five spot distributed among dummy, East and declarer himself. Dummy has the seven, which accounts for one of them, and declarer has two, the queen and eight. East then must have started with three cards higher than the five spot. He already has shown the king and jack. It is futile to duck to the jack in the hope that East has no more spades to return (and that West will be able to overtake the ten jack without setting up the queen), because declarer knows that East has another spade. There is just one hope, and that is that East's remaining spade is the ten spot. This leads us unerringly to the conclusion that declarer must cover the jack. If he does and is lucky enough to find that East's spade actually was the ten, he will have succeeded in blocking the suit.

Closing our eyes to the East-West hands, let us assume that West had led, not the five, but the four of spades; that East had played the king on the first trick and had returned the jack, using the rule of eleven; and that declarer covered. With the six led originally, there would have been only five higher cards outstanding among dummy, East and declarer. With three in declarer's sight, East could have only two. Hence it would be futile to cover the jack, since no block could be possible. In that case declarer should duck, hoping East had no spade to return. In other words, that West had started with a six card suit.

Pick Up Appearance For Coming Autumn

By ALICIA HART

Without worrying or disciplining yourself so much that what remains of summer will be spoiled for you, it might be a good idea to—

Start wondering how you're going to look in new fall street and evening dresses. For instance, have you gained weight during the summer months? And if so, what are you going to do about it?

Decide whether your hair is in excellent condition to receive a new permanent wave. If not, how about weekly hot oil treatments and nightly brushings?

Use night cream regularly on elbows and hands if they probably aren't as soft and smooth as they were last spring.)

See your dentist and have your teeth cleaned as well as checked for cavities.

Find out all you can about the latest improvements in foundation garments before ordering a new girdle or all-in-one. After careful investigation, you still may want to go back to an old favorite. But at least be reasonably familiar with new types before making a decision.

Go and have your hair cut two weeks. During this period, buff them lightly or apply one of the colorless, waxy bases in lieu of lacquer.

Resolve that, for once, you're going to buy fall shoes which are as comfortable as they are smart.

Look carefully at the skin around your eyes to see if by any chance summer vanishing has left a network of fine lines there. If so, begin patting on cream at night wearing colored glasses, if you're sentiously. And stop reading in bad light or otherwise straining your eyes.

Make a complete shopping list before you buy a single new fall dress or accessory. Then stick to the list.

What To Do

By Phyllis Belmont

My husband died several weeks ago and I received many cards and letters of condolence. What is to be done over these? What sort of answer should it be and how long should I wait before answering?

MRS. N. V. C.

Answer—It is not absolutely necessary to answer all letters and cards of condolence and certainly no one expects a prompt answer to messages of sympathy. Some weeks after such letters have been received most persons try to reply to relatives and intimate friends, and if they feel called to do so after a few words on their visiting cards. "Thank you for your sympathy" or "With deep appreciation for your sympathy," and mail them to the others. In some cases a short note of acknowledgment may be written by some member of the family. Of course, the little black-edged engraved cards or folders are a convenient means of acknowledgment, especially when many letters are received from business associates and acquaintances who are not known to the family. But flowers should always be acknowledged with a personal letter of thanks.

Bride's Home Is Colorful Setting For Nuptial Service

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Aug. 31—Bouquets of fringed asters, red and white snapdragons and gladioli bloomed in the garden setting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Robinson one afternoon recently for the marriage of their second daughter, Ruth Robinson, to Lieut. Roy Holditch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holditch of Calgary.

Rev. Ford was official at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of pink silk net over pink taffeta with a veil of misty white net. She carried a bouquet of pink and white gladioli.

Mrs. P. McArthur, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, choosing for her attire a pink and blue flowered crepe. She carried bells and white cosmos.

Mr. Rex Bancroft acted as best man.

A wedding luncheon was served to thirty guests following the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Holditch left by motor for a honeymoon in California.

On their return they will make their home in Calgary.

Rites Held For Drowned Child

WETASKIWIN, Sept. 1.—Funeral will be held Saturday for Bonnie Gerald Siroschen, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Siroschen who was drowned in a water trough at his home west of Wetaskiwin Tuesday evening. The child was believed to have climbed through a fence and fallen into the trough used for watering the stock. Besides his parents he leaves three sisters.

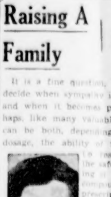

Warships Cruise

GAETA, Italy, Sept. 1.—Italy's two new 8,000-ton cruisers, the Eugenio di Savoia and Duca D'Aosta, departed today for a cruise around the world to honor Italian naval prestige. The trip has been planned for a long time.

Raising A Family

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

It is a fine question, I think, to decide when sympathy is a remedy and when it becomes poison. Perhaps, like many valuable drugs, it can be both, depending upon the dosage, the ability of the subject to suspend a bit the safety in mixing or with other compounds in the prescription.

O. R. Barton

In short, we must consider when, where and how to sympathize. A cup of water is the saver to a thirsty man, but one of the favorite ways of old to kill a cold quickly by filling him with water until he died. "Killed with kindness" is an apt phrase. It can kill all the spunk a child may have.

Mother, since we are talking of school these days, I have I'd make a little vow, if I were you. Not to be too sure you are doing right. Never by voice nor mine the teacher is unfair, or that he is studying too hard. Both of these things may be true. And naturally, your sympathy would be for those that need righting.

INVESTIGATE QUIETLY

No, the better way is to investigate quietly and right any situation out of hand, in another way. Don't make an issue with Bobby the loss of confidence. Arbitrate. Talk it over with the right people and see what can be done.

Wherever duty is concerned there is usually a strong pull away from it. The housewife thinks of a thousand better ways to spend her time while she is making beds. The man at the desk creates a nice cool pool, or a miniature golf course between himself and the ledger.

Keep up sympathy long enough and it takes the starch out of the fibre. It acts like tomatoes on the disciplinarians of a family. It is good. It's very, very bad. And it does not make people any happier, but, unfortunately, because we with world increases and real things become increasingly distasteful.

So with your Bobby in school. Your heart is sore often as you see him trudging off on bad days, or on days when you know he hates school. The thought of dark and cold days when you'd like to keep him home and coddle him and say "Let the old school go. You're happier here." . . . I don't think you need to be too indifferent to Bob's happiness or blind to his school troubles. Show him that you care. This if normal and fair. But too much sympathy will only make matters worse. He has to march off and take it like the rest.

Minute Make-Ups

The new powder-lume stick (it's sold in almost any store) is really a grand invention. Just touch it to your face lightly, then blend it evenly with your fingertips. It gives the skin a youthful velvety finish. You'll want one of the tiny size, too—to slip in your purse.

Broomhall

Excellent weather almost generally throughout North America recently has assisted to completion of the harvesting and apparently filled the wheat in late sections of Alberta, so that the total out-turn will be increased. Te demand for Canadian wheat has stopped. Heavy hedges have demoralized prices and competition of cheap American wheat absorbed the already small foreign demand. Exporters so far this season have shipped out more than usual, and the following table shows which countries have done the bulk of the business, shipped from August 1 to August 27, this year: U.S.A., 10,501,000 vs. 4,109,000 last year; Canada, 6,028,000 vs. 9,227,000; Argentine, 4,368,000 vs. 3,574,000; Australia, 9,357,000 vs. 5,630,000; Russia, 12,352,000 vs. 728,000; Danube, 2,272,000 vs. 3,592,000; others, 2,636,000 vs. 3,470000.

New Zealand's Social Security Bill Progresses

WELLINGTON, Sept. 1 — The New Zealand House of Representatives today gave second reading without a recorded vote to the government's social security bill.

Among other benefits the bill would provide pensions of 30 shillings a week to all at 60 years of age.

It forecast free medical service for all. Finance Minister Nash, in moving second reading, estimated the cost of working the measure during the first year would be £15,000,000 ($60,000,000). He said £8,500,000 of this would come from a wages tax and registration fees.

Present revenue would furnish £5,135,000 of the balance, leaving £1,365,000 to be found.

Cops Shooting High, Aim To Be Professional Men

TORONTO, Sept. 1—Establishment of police work on a professional basis similar to the medical and legal professions was recorded last night as a major objective of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Nearly 1,000 executives from the United States and Canada adopted a committee report during the international police congress here calling upon the association to lead in professionalization efforts.

The report urged establishment of professional rating after two years' probation and examinations, standardized qualifications for admission to training schools, standardized formal training schools for advancement and development of research programs.

It urged adoption of a self-imposed ethics code and creation within the organization of an investigation committee to study and report on charges of nonprofessional behavior or personal conduct.

Man Changes Theory When Crisis Arises

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 1—Arthur A. Pickering, Windsor, had always been holder of a theory that it was foolish to resist an armed holdup. So, he could not fully explain to police Tuesday his actions in disarming and beating off three would-be bandits who entered his drug store shortly before last midnight. "I guess I just got mad," Pickering said of his actions in refusing to heed the warning of a pointed gun. The pistol was later found to be unloaded.

Large Shipment Quality Peaches Reaches Edmonton

A large shipment of peaches from British Columbia's Okanagan orchards, part of this year's record-breaking bumper crop, have arrived on the market for local consumption. The shipment is comprised largely of the Hale and Elberta varieties, the kinds best liked by housewives for preserving, and which represent the largest percentage of the total peach crop.

Local fruit men state that in no previous year have Canadian peaches graded such high quality as this year's crop in spite of the tremendous supply. More than 250 carloads — a quarter of a million crates—have been shipped out of the Okanagan to date and another 100 cars being loaded now will complete the crop. The entire production, estimated at nearly 400,000 crates, will have been packed and shipped by the end of August. The prairie provinces will consume about three-quarters of this amount, the balance being sold in British Columbia or exported.

Early season rains followed by an abundance of sunshine and hot weather in the irrigated fruit-growing sections account for the bumper crop of unusually high grade peaches this year. ***

GOVERNMENT FACES LOSS ON WHEAT TRADE

War Only Factor That Might Boost Grain Price Says Gardiner

MELVILLE, Sask., Sept. 1—War is the only factor that might boost wheat prices and save the federal government between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000 but "that is the one thing we don't want". Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Dominion minister of agriculture, said in an interview here Wednesday, following his arrival from British Columbia.

Mr. Gardiner stated the price boost would eliminate the loss expected as a result of setting a minimum price on the basis of 80 cents a bushel for No. 1 Northern at Fort William.

Mr. Gardiner visited his farm at Lemberg yesterday. Today he will go to Regina to confer with prairie farm rehabilitation act officials.

Canadian Clothing Executive Explains Basis Of Relations

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Sept. 1.—The Associated Clothing Manufacturers believe education is better than conflict, H. P. MacKechnie, general manager of Tip Top Tailors Limited, Toronto, told the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics at their recent meeting here.

No major strike has occurred since inception of the union in 1919, Mr. MacKechnie said.

The contract had been a means of stabilizing competition and ensuring workers a reasonable day's work, while also guaranteeing the manufacturers a reasonable day's production.

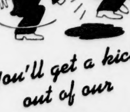

"There has not been one major strike against members of the Associated Clothing Manufacturers in the 19 years since the first agreement was signed. If this is weighed against the situation in many other industries, few would disagree that education is better than conflict," Mr. MacKechnie remarked.

Organizations Asked To Help Training Projects

APPLICATIONS MUST BE MADE ON YOUTH PLAN

Number Of Centres Will Depend On Groups Wishing To Sponsor

Number of physical training centres in Edmonton under the Dominion-provincial youth training program will depend on applications from organizations desiring to sponsor them, it was learned by representatives of the central organizing committee in consultation Wednesday with J. H. Ross, supervisor of the plan and Dr. G. F. McNally, deputy minister of education.

F. J. Fitzpatrick, chairman, Reg. T. Rose, secretary and Joe McKenzie of the committee interviewed Mr. Ross and Dr. McNally and were advised that organizations sponsoring centres must be responsible for supplying the hall, equipment and administration expense.

GOVERNMENT AID

The provincial government supplies and pays trained instructors. Applications for centres must be sent to Mr. Rose at the Y.M.C.A. in writing before September 12 and will be considered at a meeting on September 14.

The committee on Wednesday afternoon attended a demonstration by the young men and women now being trained as instructors, at the Normal school grounds.

Displays of fundamental gymnastics, games, apparatus work and some folk dancing were given, showing a general outline of the work planned for the physical training centres.

In attendance was Ian Eisenhardt, director of British Columbia's physical training.

Premier Aberhart, accompanied by several cabinet ministers, also was present and commented favorably on the demonstration.

Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, expressed great satisfaction with Wednesday's display.

"I have never seen such a finished demonstration of this kind and more especially considering the short time in which preparation was carried out," said Mr. Low.

"I have taken such a course in connection with physical development and I think it is the finest thing for people to take, right from youth up to middle age. I am sure this will be a fine thing for the entire province."

FAIR AND WARM CITY FORECAST

With the forecast for the city again fair and warm, Thursday morning risers who stepped out into the brilliant sunshine looked forward to another day of continued fine weather with pleasant satisfaction.

Far and near north temperatures remained comparatively steady up to 8:30 Thursday morning with Mayo, in the far north, claiming the lowest reading, 38 above.

COUNCIL HOLDS SPECIAL MEET ON HOME ISSUE

Special meeting of city council will be held Thursday at 4:30 p.m. to review the town planning commission's report in relation to regarding "court" type apartment houses and decide whether the city shall put lots to H. W. Brooker for this purpose.

Council instructed commissioners to withhold sale of lots, and that an option on a fourth at the northwest corner of 84 avenue and 109 street when Garneau residents petitioned against allowing this type of residence to be built.

Claims were made that it made for congestion. The town planning commission on Monday found this a desirable type of dwelling, but recommended that it have a domestic character in design and avoid the appearance of a "service station".

CAPITOL TO USE MODERN SYSTEM AIR CONDITION

With the re-opening of the Capitol theatre in Edmonton, September 8, will attend a theatre that will include the most modern and up-to-date air conditioning system in the world. This system uses equipment manufactured by pioneers in theatre and commercial air conditioning work.

The system is so arranged that during the summer it will provide cool, clean air to the entire auditorium and foyer. During the summer months, the Capitol theatre will thus be maintained comfortable, pleasant and well ventilated. From the standpoint of health, this system represents perfection.

In the winter months, the same system is used to provide warm, clean heat and to provide this heat in such a manner that the patrons will always feel comfortable, regardless of what the conditions may be outside. The air is constantly changed. Whether the temperature outside is 30 above or 30 below zero, this system will maintain a temperature evenly at a comfortable point.

Systems similar to that recently completed at the Capitol are now being used in all types of commercial buildings throughout the world. Similar units are now being installed in a new office building erected in Durban, South Africa. The New Odeon theatre in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, also has a system exactly the same as the Capitol.

Polio Case Is Reported From Turner Valley

One new case of infantile paralysis was reported in Turner Valley Wednesday, a nine-year-old boy making the 23rd case in the valley and the 60th in Alberta since July 1.

Dr. David Landers, of Turner Valley, said the case was mild and that no paralysis had occurred.

Edmonton maintained its clear record Thursday, the three young patients at present in the Isolation hospital all making fine progress, according to reports.

Pilot Alex. Dame, United Air Transport, left Edmonton Thursday for Conklin, Alta., where he will fly fish from a nearby lake to the railway.

W. T. HENRY IS HONORED AFTER 50 YEARS HERE

Pioneer Businessman Feted By Friends At Lake Gathering

Receiving congratulations not only from those present but from people high in public life, including Hon. J. C. Bowen, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, Premier William Aberhart and others, William T. Henry, pioneer Edmonton business man, was the guest of honor at a surprise celebration at his summer home at South Cooking Lake, Wednesday afternoon.

Edmonton furniture men and representatives of furniture manufacturers gathered at Mr. Henry's cottage at the lake, and the veteran store owner was given a rousing welcome on his arrival there.

50 YEARS IN ALBERTA

Marking the 50th year of Mr. Henry's residence in Alberta and his 32nd year in business in Edmonton, the event was presided over by Clarence Mardon, K.C.

Indicative of the esteem in which he is held by his competitors in the furniture business, a presentation was made to Mr. Henry on behalf of the assembled businessmen; employees of the firm with which he is associated—Henry, Graham and Reid Limited—also presented a gift to the guest of honor.

CONGRATULATIONS

Among the congratulatory messages received were those of Deputy Mayor A. Bissel, E. L. Gray, M.L.A., D. M. Duggan, M.L.A., J. A. MacKinnon, M.P., H. Peter Hole, K. Hill, John Blue, J. B. Oliver, J. W. Glenwright and John M. Imrie.

He was mayor of the city for three terms 1914-1917 inclusive, and was a member of the Alberta legislature, being elected as a Liberal in 1924. He also served on the Edmonton hospital board.

Replying to the well-wishers gathered to honor him, Mr. Henry thanked them for their kind thoughts. He said he had enjoyed his years in Alberta—"a province with a wonderful future"—and hoped he would enjoy many more.

Celebrating 50 years in Alberta, 32 of which he has spent in Edmonton, W. T. Henry, pioneer city businessman, was feted at a gathering at his South Cooking Lake summer home Wednesday. Among the messages of congratulation which he received was one from Lieut.-Governor J. C. Bowen.

Through The Mill

What constitutes an emergency? If an inter-urban trucker sticks in a muddy detour Saturday night and then proceeds to his destination on Sunday, should he be fined under the Lord's Day Act? These were questions facing Magistrate A. L. Miller in city police court Thursday morning. The owner of the truck in question was dismissed with a caution, since he was unaware that the truck, which was hauling gasoline to the city from Calgary, was operating on the highway on Sunday. Driver of the truck was thought responsible, however, and was fined $5 and costs.

Quite a drive against Sunday working was staged, with several motorists running afoul of the law. Two received adjournments.

Carrying passengers in his truck cost the owner of the vehicle ten dollars and costs.

"Not 70 miles an hour! Why, that's fast." I was only doing 58 miles an hour," the speeder after passing a highway patrolman testify as to the reasons for the motorist's arrest. Evidently the court couldn't see more than a cruising speed of about a mile a minute on the Cooking Lake road, was nothing to worry about, and impressed the thought on the accused man's mind by means of a $15 and costs penalty.

* * *

Bewildered by her predicament, a young woman charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor was given a suspended sentence of one year when it was learned that the farmer who employed her as housekeeper, and who was evidently the person responsible for her plight, had been fined heavily in an out-of-town court on the same charge.

* * *

Paying back in instalments the amount of $23.10, which he obtained by fraud from the city relief department, an aged man was given a suspended sentence to finish paying the amount by being granted an indefinite number of two months.

Whether or not a difference of opinion was settled with a knife recently, and if so, the alleged blade-wielder again appears in court on Friday, having been given a one-day adjournment.

* * *

Held for mental observation, a young chap charged with theft and receiving possession of stolen property was given an adjournment for one week. He "was charged with stealing a seed machine."

AUGUST WEATHER FINER THAN 1880 WHEN SNOW FELL

Compared with the unusual August weather record of old Fort Edmonton for the year 1880, Edmonton's weather for the past month is distinctly normal in spite of long periods of rain that ushered it in.

Lowest mean temperature was recorded officially at 35 above as against the low mean of 29 in 1934 and the high mean of 41 above in 1926. Highest temperature of the month came when the thermometer rose to 81.

Aside from one hail storm which did very little damage and a few scattered thunder storms, August contributed very little in the way of freakish weather. On August 24, 1880, Fort Edmonton was blanketed under 3½ inches of snow which fell between the hours of 3 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Citizens enjoyed 249.2 hours of bright sunshine, coming mostly during the closing days of the month. Rain falling mainly during the early part of August gave a total precipitation of 3.70 inches as compared with the August high of 4.84 recorded in 1926.

MISSING GIRL IN CITY HOTEL REPORT STATES

Stayed In Hostelry Here August 13 Before Disappearance

Last known stopping place of Ethel Barker, 15-year-old Winnipeg girl, who disappeared nearly three weeks ago, was the Lincoln hotel in Edmonton.

The girl stayed overnight at the hotel, it was learned today from George Roberts, hotel accountant, on August 13. Mr. Roberts said the girl was taken to the hotel by an elderly Asiatic man, whose identity he did not learn.

LEAVE TOGETHER

The next morning the man called for her and they left together, but did not say where they were going.

Authorities who are investigating have not determined whether the man was the girl's uncle, Leslie Pitman, of Flint, Mich., who accompanied Miss Barker from Calgary to Alta., to Edmonton after receipt of a bogus telegram saying she was wanted at home in Winnipeg by her father, described as ill.

It is believed the uncle, however, left the girl the same night they arrived in Edmonton, where he took a train to his United States home. The girl was supposed to have taken a bus for Winnipeg, but left Edmonton on a Vancouver-bound bus by an Edmonton woman.

Police here reported Thursday that Ethel Barker bought a ticket to Vancouver at the Union Bus Depot in Edmonton August 13 and left that night on the midnight bus for the coast city. Two Edmonton women who went as far as Spokane, Washington, on the bus, reported they left on the bus when they arrived there.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1.— Deputy Police Chief Charles MacIver of Winnipeg today said he had reason to believe Ethel Barker, 15-year-old Winnipeg girl missing since Aug. 13 from Edmonton, now is in Vancouver.

Gleaned From Today's News

Bank clearings for the week ending September 1 totalled $3,774,624.78 as compared to $4,327,922.04 for the corresponding week last year, according to a report received Thursday from the clearing house.

En route to Winnipeg after a trip to Vancouver, W. G. Sicnason, C. P. R. master car builder of Winnipeg, visited Edmonton Thursday.

Supplementary examinations which commenced at various points throughout the province on Aug. 23, were written by 4,000 students. The results will be released early in September.

Sweetpea blooms grown in city gardens were on display Thursday in the Whyte avenue business premises occupied by Charles Fisher's South Side merchant. The display is being staged by the Edmonton Horticultural Society.

Customs and excise collections through the Edmonton port for August, 1938, show an increase of $2,600 over the same month last year. This year collections were $182,291.11; last year $178,590.96.

Hon D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture, left on Thursday for an inspectional trip of provincial government farms at Brooks, Olds and Lacombe. He will return to his office in the early part of next week.

Farmers are enabled to gather four of the crops of hay every year by drying grass artificially. The grass is cut when it is six inches high

(by the court).

ALBERTA WAS FORMED JUST 33 YEARS AGO

Thursday Is Anniversary Of Alberta's Momentous Occasion

Just 33 years ago the act of parliament creating Alberta province came into force and the event was commemorated by inaugural celebrations of a varied nature that have seldom been equalled and never surpassed in the intervening years.

Earl Grey, then Governor General of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada and many other distinguished dignitaries came from far and wide to take part in the several days' celebrations. Main celebrations were held at the old fair grounds, ere Rose flats, at a point north of the power plant.

The old Thistle Rink on 102 street north of Jasper was the scene of other gatherings.

With Saskatchewan, Alberta was carved out of the North West Territories.

In the 33 years since its formation, Alberta has seen much. Its population has increased from 374,295 at the 1911 census to 796,000 at the 1935 census. There are 161,872,000 acres of land and 1,310,400 acres of water or a total of 163,363,400 acres or 255,255 square miles.

After a protracted argument with Calgary, Edmonton was logically chosen as the capital of the province and the seat of the provincial university.

FIRST SESSION

First session of the legislature was held in the old Thistle rink. Then the first legislative building was constructed. It is now the Dorforth building. The red brick structure on the river bank below the main building. The main building had no come stone laid in 1911 and later, in 1928, the Administration building was commenced.

There have been eight legislatures elected.

Alberta has seen many ups and downs. The people are optimistic, and despite the set backs of the past always looking 'round the corner in sad times. Alberta has led the world in wheat growth, basketball, poultry, dairy products and many other fields and undoubtedly will continue to do so for many years.

The Inquiring Reporter

Ignorance of the law cannot be pleaded as a defence in a court of law. With existing laws being changed by amendment of parliament and the provincial legislatures, it is practically impossible for the ordinary person to be abreast of these changes and the Inquiring Reporter sought opinions on the question "Should governments publish in the press and by other means the changes made in existing laws and new laws passed for the information of the general public?" Following are the replies:

A. BLAIR PATERSON, barrister: It would appear to be a reasonable suggestion. Although changes made in the law are usually reported in the press, some provision should be made by governments to acquaint the general public of changes that would affect them generally in the pursuit of their ordinary vocations.

ALF CONNELLEY, clerk: A synopsis of legislation and its effect should be published and made available to the general public at a reasonable cost. This would appear to be a duty of government.

* * *

HARRY THOMPSON, returned soldier: I cannot see that it makes any great difference. Very few laymen know anything of the law, and the application of the laymen who think they do have a peculiar interpretation of it which generally does not meet with the approval of presiding judges. My experience with the law proves it necessary to have a lawyer to interpret the language of statutes and to fight the case.

Way Opened For Distribution Of $10,000 Estate

If Ella James and Alfred Mason, both of Edmonton, died at Boston, Mass., and last heard of 38 years ago in Colorado, are still alive they will be interested to learn Edmonton court officials of the fact with as little delay as possible.

Following morning on the application of Frank Layton, of the law firm of Milner, Steer, Porter, Martland and Layton, as solicitors for executors of the estate of Edward McArthur, Athlenian district rancher, Mr. Justice Ives Kennedy ordered another presuming them to be dead and thus opened the way for the distribution of the $10,000 left in the estate, probate of which has been applied for through the Alberta courts.

Two beneficiaries, Mrs. Rose Clarke and Mrs. Liza B. Mason, both of Boston, Mass., will participate in the distribution with the executors of the estate of Edward McArthur. Should either of the persons presumed to be dead

Squatter Ordered Off Farm Land In Edson Area

Several years ago Fred E. Bealle, Edson district farmer, had considerable difficulty in getting John Kaczmarczyk, a squatter, off his land, and finally had to obtain a court order dispossessing the squatter.

The latter moved off the land following the serving of the ejectment order from the court, and passed from Mr. Bealle's ken.

About a year ago Mr. Bealle purchased additional land in the Edson district and found he had as a tenant, Mr. Kaczmarczyk, who had moved to this land when ejected from Mr. Bealle's farm.

Again a battle started to get the squatter off the land, and Thursday morning in supreme court chambers Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd gave the squatter six months to relocate himself in the Edson district.

TIGHE STATES IRELAND GOES TO PROSPERITY

City Barrister Returns From Visit To His Birthplace

Within the next few years Eire will be one of the most prosperous countries in the world, according to R. D. Tighe, K.C., prominent Edmonton barrister, who returned recently from a holiday spent in his native county Sligo.

The recent settlement effected by the British and Eire governments will open export avenues to the Irish farmer which will be reflected in upward swings in production of cattle, sheep, hogs for export, and also in the finished products, bacon, beef and mutton, he stated.

ECONOMIC WAR

The economic war which prevailed prior to the settlement, continued Mr. Tighe, had been extremely injurious to both sides and its termination has met with unanimous approval throughout the country.

"As far as I could gather, the Irish people have no grievances left, and finding themselves in this more-than-least position it will take them time to settle down to it," chuckled Mr. Tighe.

Ireland undoubtedly suffered a great loss in the deaths of two statesmen who had already made names for themselves though only in their early thirties. The late Kevin O'Higgins, who was minister of justice, was a great force in public affairs and a master of the pungent satire of his famous uncle, Tim Healy. The other, Paddy Hogan, though a solicitor in a small country town in the west of Ireland, was reputed to be unsurpassed in the British Empire as a minister of agriculture.

Now that we are into September, remember that on the 24th of this month we are going to have the Lions' Club Air Derby for Jimmy Allen Official Contest Planes at the Edmonton Airport.

The British American Oil Co. and Jimmy Allen went to a lot of trouble to design the Jimmy Allen Contest Plane and then they had thousands of the building kits made so that they are able to sell for less than half what you would ordinarily pay for a plane building kit of this type.

You can get one of the plane building kits from any British American Service station for only 99 cents, or by sending one dollar and five cents and your name and address to the British American Oil company in Edmonton.

Now it takes time, as I have told you before, to build a good plane, and my advice to all you cadets, both boys and girls, is to get a plane building kit at once. If you can't raise enough money yourself, maybe one of your friends will share the cost of the kit and help to build the plane.

A number of young fellows I know are going to work it that way. But in this case only one name should be entered in the contest and the partners should agree before the race how they will divide any prizes they may win.

But it is only a little more than three weeks until the day of the contest, and as you will want several days to practice flying your plane after you have finished building it, you had better begin at once. Go out and get your plane building kit tonight or early tomorrow.

Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

There is a popular notion that if a man's wife is taller or larger than himself that he is surely a "henpecked husband." Studies show that this is all foolishness and that the number of henpecked husbands with tall wives is no greater than among men with smaller wives. Henpecking is a matter of strength of personality, and this has nothing whatever to do with physical size in most people. Some of the most henpecked husbands are big giants with fiery little wives.

First Lady Returns From Visit To Britain

Bringing encouraging news that Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, is progressing well in his convalescence in Scotland, the Lady Tweedsmuir arrived in Quebec aboard the Empress of Britain. With her was her daughter, the Hon. Mrs. B. F. H. Fairfax-Lucy, with her husband. Mrs. Fairfax-Lucy is paying her first visit to Canada. The photograph taken on the bridge of the liner shows, left to right, Mrs. Arthur Grenfell, Capt. and the Hon. Mrs. Fairfax-Lucy, the Lady Tweedsmuir, Lieut.-Col. E. D. McKenzie, C.M.G., D.S.O., Comptroller of the Household of the Governor-General; Commodore W. G. Bask-Wood, R.D., R.N.R., Commander of the Empress of Britain, and Mrs. George Page, Lady-in-Waiting to Her Excellency.

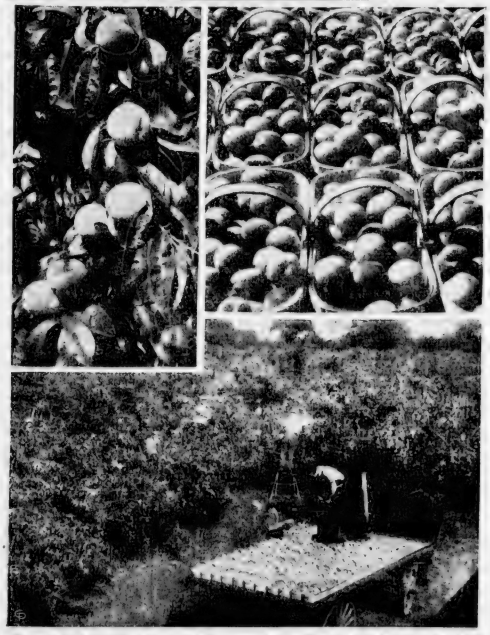

Mystery Mixup

"Who's Who" might be a good title for the comedy of errors reported in Newark, N.Y., when it was alleged that Eleanor Kenyon, 18, at top, gave a marriage license which had been issued to her and one Gerald G. Barnard, to her friend, Margarette Verzeano, 18, below. Miss Verzeano is said to have married Barton Invermere under Miss Kenyon's name and license. Another complication reported is that Miss Kenyon pretended she was Miss Verzeano and signed as a witness to the wedding. Barnard, meanwhile, was being congratulated on his marriage.

Bumper Peach Crop Rolling In

From the peach orchards of the Niagara peninsula a crop of more than 350,000 baskets of exceptionally excellent quality is being harvested this year and is now rolling into markets throughout Canada. This year's crop is about 100,000 baskets below that of last year, when a record crop was picked, but it will be the second largest crop of peaches ever grown in the district. Above, farmers from across the province inspect their crop during the Peach Festival at Jordan. Below, a basket of peaches from the famous fruit district is carried to market for the buffeting.

Renowned Dodgers Burst Into Song

Tired the Brooklyn Dodgers to disagreeable defeats? Here are four members of the Mental Aid Society singing a dispirited song. Esks Go East

Grads Step Fast

WORD from Regina last night was that Coach Dean Griffing and his Roughriders are poised for their biggest year in football. They are confident that they will start the season off by handing the Eskimos a shellacking under the flood lights on Friday night.

Dean points out in a press statement that his confidence and optimism is due to the fact that "Riders are going to play real [illegible] this season. Two years ago we hit 'em and meant it. The result was a championship. Last year we were just a bunch of molly-coddles," growls Griffing. To add weight to his statement, Regina announces that the combined weight of 27 Roughriders is just a trifle short of 5[illegible] pounds. If that is true, Griffing may have to change the name of Roughriders to Truckriders.

Five U. S. imports and a flock of youngsters from Regina Dales, western junior champs last year, are the new additions to the Roughriders. However Griffing has lost two proven and mighty useful pigskin packers in Ralph Pierce and Paul Kirk.

The five new imports are: "Highpockets" Cleveland, star of Kansas State last year; Leo Danaher, also from Kansas; Jim Farasey from Xavier College, Cincinnati; Alex Shellogg from Notre Dame and Ben Walker from South Dakota. Cleveland will play quarterback and do the kicking. Danaher is 190 pounds of backfielder. Farasey is a passer and secondary defence man. Shellogg of old Notre Dame is a tackle and so is Walker. Griffing will play centre again with Johnny O'Keefe from Dodge City, Kansas, [illegible]

The inside dope from the Saskatchewan capital is that Coach Cronin is short on forward pass receivers. Add to this the fact that Paul Kirk, the west's premier intercepter of forwards, is now an Eskimo with a good knowledge of Roughrider plays, and it looks as if Regina will not gain very much ground against Edmonton by an aerial attack.

International Feudists Are Now Good Bedfellows

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Two strange bedfellows of sport broke bread and sipped an Italian count's champagne Wednesday as they patched forever a feud that caused an international incident seven years ago.

Chief characters were Gar Wood, the silvery fox of Harmsworth trophy fame, and Kaye Don, British sportsman who almost lost his life because of the sly Wood's racing skullduggery back in 1931.

Gar Wood

Here to greet Count Theo Rossi Di Montelera of Italy, now in the United States to try for the famous gold cup speed boat honors over the Detroit river course on Labor Day, Wood and Don toasted each other. As they parted, Wood wore a broad smile. The one blot on his escutcheon as a sportsman, he believed, had been erased.

CAUSED GOSSIP

Perhaps no sports event ever caused as much international criticism as the Wood-Don incident. Don, a British [illegible] had come to Detroit with a remarkable boat Miss England [illegible] to challenge Wood [illegible] the bunkers of [illegible]

Kaye Don

But the sly Wood [illegible] the track almost cost Don his [illegible]

Wood entered two boats [illegible] the starting line. Wood's second boat beat the starter's gun over the starting line. It was a neat decoy. Don shot his boat across too, and it was all over. As he stood disqualified, along with Wood's decoy boat, the cagey Wood sent his craft across the line exactly on time. Victory was easy. In the ensuing mixup, Don cracked up. Medical skill saved his life, as sportsmen the world over condemned Wood.

Wood, to this day, has been trying to get back into good graces among world sportsmen. He has more than paid the price of one mistake, so, Wednesday, as he wined and dined with the man he once fooled, sportsmen applauded and the near-tragic incident was forgotten.

Olympic Club Riders Prep For Labor Day Bike Race

Ken Yeatheard, ace rider of the Olympic Cycle Club, is gunning for another win Labor Day in the Silver Hawks Club's 50-mile bike race. Yeatheard hopes to repeat his victory in the 100-mile bike race from Red Deer earlier this year. Yeatheard was second in the Alberta Beach race and showed up well on May 2[illegible].

Another Olympic rider, Bill Faram, winner of the Alberta Beach race, will be gunning for victory. Faram placed second to Yeatheard in the 100-mile event and is enjoying one of his best seasons.

Time for the 50-mile event last year was 2 hours and 25 minutes made by Bob Allan who will be defending his title this season. The B class time last year was 2 hours and 31 minutes.

Interest in Saturday's Soccer Final Here Mounts

FOR the first time in several years Edmonton soccer football enthusiasts will have the opportunity of seeing a provincial soccer final, when Edmonton Civics, Alberta champions for the past two years, meet Calgary Callies in the second game of the series at Clarke Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Callies took a two-goal lead in the first game of the home-and-home series at Calgary recently but the Civics feel confident that they will be able to overtake the southern eleven and win their third straight provincial crown. Interest is high in Edmonton at the present time and Civics are looking forward to a full turnout of fans.

GEORGE VALPY

TORONTO, Sept. 1. — George Valpy, of Edmonton, came second last night in the 880-yards free style race at the Canadian National exhibition waterfront. Winner of the event was Gordon Devlin, of Toronto, who holds several Canadian swim records. Devlin finished in 11:42.4, a good 30 yards ahead of Valpy. The Edmonton swimmer finished strongly to nose out Jack Jones, of Long Branch, Ont., for the runner-up spot. The women's 880-yard free style race was won by Dot Hudson, of Toronto, in 13:09.2.

Torrid Mat Battle Looms On Friday Night

The popular wrestling grid star, Soldier Thomas, meets up with Bobby "Bad Boy" Cummings at the Memorial Hall Friday night on Promoter Mike Cutcher's wrestling card.

Cummings hopes to stretch his winning streak of 16-straight matches in the local ring to the 17-win mark Friday. One of the best and toughest grapplers to step into an Edmonton ring, Cummings gained the decision over Dandy Dizzy Davis on last week's card after Davis was disqualified for trying to end Roberts career by choking him to death. The referee just broke the boys in time to save Wee Roberts life.

Soldier Thomas is one of the finest and best liked wrestlers ever to visit Edmonton. He is plenty fast and a mighty sweet matman. Two weeks ago he battled to a draw with Dizzy Davis in a match that still has the fans [illegible]

Two fast preliminaries will round out the card that gets under way at 9:00 p.m.

Morrin Softball Team Plays Black And White Saturday

Morrin Flyers, ladies' intermediate softball champions of Central Alberta, will meet Black and Whites, Northern division champions, in the semi-final round for the provincial crown. A double-header will be played Saturday at Boyle street, the first game starting at 2:30 p.m. and the second at 6:[illegible] p.m.

The clubs will meet again Monday at Morrin playing a double-header against the Flyers. It is a best two-of-three series. Lethbridge was given a bye into the final round against the winner of the Morrin-Edmonton series.

Bucs to Protest Defeat in Opener

Record Crowd In Forbes Field Thrill To Bitter Struggle—Giants Get Breaks To Win First Game

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1.—Before a crowd of 43,586, largest ever to turn out for a regular season engagement in Forbes Field, the Pirates marched on toward the National baseball league pennant Wednesday by splitting a double-header with the second-place New York Giants.

The New Yorkers took a nip-and-tuck opener decision 6-5 on an unearned run in the ninth, but the Pirates came back with a 16-hit barrage behind Red Lucas' eight-hit pitching, for a lop-sided 12-3 victory in the nightcap.

The split gave the Bucs two of the three tilts played in the current four-game series and left them with a 6½ game lead over the Giants.

After staging an uphill fight in the opener, to tie at 5-5 in the seventh, the Bucs kicked the game away in the final frame.

McCARTHY OPENED

Johnny McCarthy opened with a single and brought the deciding run all the way around on the combination of an error by Lee Handley, who threw a double-play ball into right field, and a passed ball, charged to Al Todd.

The Pirates finished the game under protest, however, after a decision on a base runner in the sixth. With runners on first and second, [illegible] hit to third baseman George Myatt, who threw to Catcher Harry Danning. Gus Suhr, who had started for home, headed back to third, but when he arrived there Pep Young was already on the bag.

Young was obviously out, so Suhr had prior possession of the bag, but Umpire Ziggy Sears waved Suhr off the bag and Danning touched him, precipitating a Pirate argument which wound up in the protest.

ROMAN MARCUS CAPTURES RICH ALBERTA DERBY

Albert Bodiou Boots Home Winner

CALGARY, Sept. 1.—Roman Marcus, mighty son of Marcus Aurelius-Lady Hammond, swept through the long stretch at Chinook Park Wednesday afternoon to capture the eighth running of the rich Alberta Derby. The big bay colt, overwhelming favorite in the field of eight, battled head and head through the long straight away with his principal contender, Contributor, and always in front, lasted to win by a head. York Lomond was third five lengths back.

The race was fitting of Derby calibre. Albert Bodiou drew the mount on Roman Marcus, while Jack Drumheller brought the great rider, J. Craigmyle, from the Pacific coast to pilot Contributor. These two good jockeys, mounted on two of the west's finest three-year-olds, gave a display that brought the great crowd to its [illegible] JEWELLERS encouragement as they battled [illegible],000 added purse. The mile affair was run in 1:40 2-5, but 2-5 of a second off the track record.

Roman Marcus broke alertly and raced close to the pacemaking King's Jubilee. He responded when called upon, took command and held on when Contributor challenged. Contributor broke badly, was hustled into Contention, drew even with the winner at the last turn but was not quite good enough. York Lomond raced with the leaders in the early stages, dropped back in the drive but was always best of the others. King's Jubilee stopped after setting the pace for five furlongs.

RIDING DUEL

Bodiou and Craigmyle met in another great riding duel in the 1 1-16 mile Glenmore handicap, sixth race on the card. Hornet set a dazzling pace but Craigmyle brought Hallsault Maid to the fore in the closing stride to win by a nose.

A great crowd was on hand to witness the fine card and mutuel play sky-rocketed 30 per cent over "Derby Day" of last year.

Craigmyle accepted three mounts on the card. He won with Sun T and Mainault Maid and was second with Contributor. Mumano rode two winners while Bodiou, Hamilton and Sylvia had one each.

The daily double of Valiant Jo and Sun T paid $332.95, while the quinella of Spicy Life and Frozen Feet paid $51.05.

Arrows, Cards to Clash Tonight Third Series Tilt

THE third issue of a bitter baseball series will be presented tonight at Renfrew Park as the Arrow Busses and Army and Navy Cardinals resume their bitter struggle in their championship four-of-seven series. The game will start at 6:00 o'clock, 15 minutes earlier than usual, owing to early darkness.

Deadlocked at one win each after two stirring diamond struggles, tonight's game will be a crucial one in the series. Both teams will field strong lineups, with potent hitting power, strong defence and the best of moundsmen.

The Cardinals will likely have Manager Ralph Morgan doing the hurling Morgan won the first game pulling it out of the fire with his three-hit relief hurling. He is favored to win tonight's game.

The Arrows will probably use Walter Johnson on the mound. Johnson has already taken one decision from the Cards and looks a promising slabman after showing some fair relief pitching in the first game of the series.

In France, in 1457, a sow was hanged for murder, and her six pigs were prosecuted as accomplices.

Players forming the Bronks' team for the Winnipeg game are: Ed. Rovig, Gerry Morrison, Paul Rowe, Bill Wasyk, Buzz Buzzard, Ted Harding, Johnny Rosano, Joe Turner, Bob Campbell, Jimmy Gilkes and Herb Snowden, Bob Cosgrove, Dick Houghlan, Homer Nelson, Jack Lorrison, Hal Harrison, Chet Hagen, Keith Gibson, Archie Ritchie, Boby Mitchell, Bob Harrison and Larry Haynes.

Rabid Miners Back Softball Nines With Cash

GOLDFIELDS, Sask., Sept. 1.—Athabaska's rabid softball fans have been getting their two-bits worth in the mining camps autumn playdown with Frontier, Box and C.M.S. eliminated and Goldfields contending with Athona for final honors and the cup. The best out of five series will be settled shortly and the winners will stand undisputed champions of Athabaska.

Goldfields took the first, Athona came back with two straight. Monday night Goldfields evened the score by winning their second. Officials anticipate a record crowd for the final game and have provided additional seating space at the town playgrounds. Of course they charge you a quarter admission and with the proceeds are further improving the ball park. The average attendance has ranged from 200 but the final should almost double that.

LIBERAL M.P. SAYS CANADA STILL UNITED

W. Ross Macdonald, K.C., Brantford, Is City Visitor

Confederation is not in danger, it is here to stay. Our seeming difficulties and problems can respond to closer understanding between the peoples of Canada, stated W. Ross Macdonald, K.C., Liberal M.P. for Brantford, who is a visitor in Edmonton.

Visiting Edmonton after a lapse of 25 years, Mr. Macdonald found a lack of understanding and appreciation of eastern Canadians, and an equal lack of understanding by eastern Canadians of their brothers in western Canada.

People in western Canada are of the opinion that Easterners live in the lap of luxury, whereas the fact is that a large percentage of working people have been out of employment for the last eight years. There has been a great improvement during the last few years, stated Mr. Macdonald.

Canada's problems are more economic than constitutional. There must be the greatest tolerance and broadmindedness on the part of the people to bring all sections into close and harmonious relationship, he added.

Mr. Macdonald expressed amazement at the development in Alberta, particularly Edmonton during the last 23 years.

$216,000 ORE SUNK IN RIVER SALVAGED SOON

216 Tons Concentrates Goes Down in Barge On Mackenzie

One of the fastest salvage jobs in the history of navigation on the Mackenzie River occurred recently when a barge carrying 216 tons of concentrates valued at more than $216,000 struck a rock and sank about 100 miles down river from Fort Simpson, it was reported by A. M. "Matt" Berry, manager of Northern Transportation Company Thursday.

Another barge with a pump had to be brought from Fort Norman, but after that it only took a day to bring the sunken barge and its valuable cargo to the surface, Berry reported. It was a Northern Transportation Company's barge which sank. It took only 16 days in all to salvage the entire cargo.

Water in the Mackenzie is the lowest in years and the rock had never been charted before, Berry said. It was being pushed by the Radium King with Captain Angus McKinnon at the helm when the accident occurred.

The water surface in the Mackenzie is 4 feet lower than last year and Lake Athabasca is eight feet lower, Berry reported.

The first adhesive postage stamps in the United States were put on sale at the New York City post office on July 1, 1847.

STALLION FROM CARSTAIRS IS BEST IN SHOW

Alberta Horse Wins Grand Championship At Vancouver Exhibition

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1.—Clydesdale stallion, owned by J. W. Munro of Carstairs, won the grand championship award for stallions under three years of age at the Canada Pacific Exhibition horse show here Wednesday.

The junior and reserve grand prizes in the class went to Titwood Sandy, a one-year-old colt owned by J. R. McGregor of Elburne, B.C.

ALBERTA CATTLE WIN

Alberta Herefords carried off major awards in their section of the cattle show. The top bull award went to W. S. Domino, 356, exhibited by Frank Collicutt, Crossfield, Alta.

A two-year-old entered by the Young estate of Bothell, Alta., took the reserve ribbon and in the female classes W. S. Miss Comino, also by Frank Collicutt, won the Junior and reserve grand awards.

Another Collicut heifer, W. S. Miss Domino, 388, received the grand championship banner.

A. C. Weir of Aberdeen, Sask., had 19 winners, including the grand championships for both boars and sows, in Yorkshire swine judging.

In only one division—boars, 18 months and under two years—did a Weir entry fail to win.

Weir's Evergreen Farm IP won the grand championship for boars, while his Evergreen Lassie 30P was the best Yorkshire sow in the show.

Other animals from the Canadian Pacific Railway farm at Strathmore, Alta., won the reserve ribbons in the junior and senior Holstein divisions. They were Strathmore Lulu Koba Winsome and Strathmore Panay McKinley respectively.

Pleuromonas jaculans, the world's smallest animal, has a body less than one three-thousandth of an inch long, and lives in ditches and pools.

Honeymooners Begin Yacht Cruise Around World

VICTORIA, Sept. 1.—Captain Eric Hanner and his wife set sail Tuesday in a 43-ton schooner rigged auxiliary yacht on a two-year cruise that will take them around the world.

Three months ago the yacht, Valkyrie, arrived here from Tahiti in the South Seas. The crew included Capt. Hanner, Mrs. R. P. Rhodes, owner of the boat, her son David, and two Tahitians.

Captain Hanner and Mrs. Rhodes were married here in June. They planned the world cruise as a honeymoon and expected to be away at least two years before returning here to live.

The stout little craft has Capt. Hanner and his wife and the two Tahitians as its crew on its newest adventure. David Rhodes decided not to make the trip.

The Valkyrie will sail to San Francisco, then south to Cocos Island. After passing through the Panama Canal and across the Atlantic, the little ship will see the Mediterranean and Monte Carlo, and go on to Egypt, Bali, Java, Australia, New Zealand, the South Seas. Hawaii and eventually back to Victoria.
